ALLIES BEGIN CONSULTATION TO SPEED WAR

Status of Russia in Conflict to Be High Spot in British and French Discussions.

Britain Holds Vessels in Far East: Reynaud Takes More Rigid Stand.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—The British ambassador to Turkey and the ministers to Bulgaria, Greece, Rumania, Hungary and Yugoslavia have been recalled to London for consultation. The move was interpreted as foreshadowing a British diplomatic offensive in the Balkans.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Great Britain and France are arranging immediate consultations on means of intensifying the war against Germany and on what status to assign Soviet Russia in the conflict.

The Russian question was brought into sharper perspective by the recall from Paris, at French request, of the Soviet ambassador, and the British detention of two Russian ships in the far east.

Russia also was believed to occupy an important place in the allied discussions in the light of the Finnish war settlement of March 12 and the reported efforts of Germany to draw Russia and Italy closer.

It was reported that the British Foreign Secretary, Lord Halifax, discussed at some length yesterday with Russian Ambassador Ivan Maisky the degree of neutrality to be accorded Russia by the allies.

British detention of the Russian ships Selenga and Vladimir Mayakovsky for contraband examination also was said to have been discussed, but foreign office sources denied that Maisky had protested the British action.

Proceeds With Caution.

Diplomatic observers held that Russia was unlikely to raise any major dispute over the detentions because they believed the present Soviet foreign policy is to pursue a cautious course while sizing up the European situation.

The impression even existed in some British quarters that Russia is becoming uneasy over her diplomatic position and the effects of her alignment with Germany.

Whether she is actually seeking to recover favor with Britain and France is not known, however.

France's Premier Paul Raynaud was reported to advocate a more rigid policy toward Russia and treatment of her as virtually a war ally of Germany.

The British government was said to feel, however, that Russia

Grocer Slain In 'Jack the Ripper' St. Louis Murder

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—The throat of Emil Bouckaert, owner of a grocery and meat market, was slashed from ear to ear with a razor or sharp knife early today in a "Jack the Ripper" murder.

Bouckaert, 65, brother of Alderman Philip Bouckaert, was attacked as he and his wife, Laura, were walking in a dark alley taking a short-cut home from a tavern.

"I heard a man behind us," Mrs. Bouckaert told police. "He called out, 'wait a minute,' and I said, 'what do you want?'

"Without another word he jumped on my husband's back and put his arm around his neck. Then he jumped away quickly and started to run, and I saw my husband fall. I saw blood . . . "

Hysterical, Mrs. Bouckaert ran to the tavern for help. Jacob Arenz, the owner, went to the alley and found Bouckaert dead.

NEW ARRIVALS

Babies Must Be Born By 12:01 April 1 To Get In Census.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Mothers who want that impending "blessed event" counted in the 1940 census, which opens next Tuesday, were advised by Census Director William L. Austin today that the new addition to the family must arrive by midnight this coming Sunday.

To satisfy universal speculation concerning the exact minute population statistics are to be ruled that babies alive at 12:01 a. m. on April 1 will be counted in the census. Otherwise they will have to wait for the 1950 census.

Claim Hopes to Find Melvin Horst Fading

Bricker Sees Publicity as New Handicap In 12-Year Mystery.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — State officials believed today that their investigation of the kidnaping 12 years ago of Melvin Horst from his home in Orrville had been handicapped by premature publicity.

Governor John W. Bricker and State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood were understood to feel that, even if the Horst boy is still alive, the chances of locating him have been lessened.

Victor L. Monte, welfare department investigator assigned to the Horst case, has been checking information given the governor by the mayor of Orrville and the sheriff of Wayne county, and a sworn statement by Tony La Fatch, Akron robber who was transferred from Ohio penitentiary to London prison farm recently.

Sherwood said nothing tangible had resulted from the investigation.

Monte, while in California recently to get a prisoner, checked a report that the Horst boy, who was four years old when he was kidnaped, was in the family of a preacher who formerly resided in Ohio.

Although the boy could not be found, the preacher was represented as saying that he was the illegitimate child of his daughter.

Melvin Horst . . . at 4.

Reached by telephone, the minister said he had not talked with Monte but denied knowing anything about the Horst kidnaping.

La Fatch was transferred to the prison farm when he claimed to have information about the Horst case. La Fatch's statement implicated two men, one of whom is now dead, in the kidnaping.

The kidnaping took place Dec. 27, 1928

HIS LAST DAY

Capt. Branson Leaves Famous U. S. Marine Band.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Capt. Taylor Branson, the first son of native American parents to lead that all-American outfit, the famous Marine band, unpacked his beloved baton today for the last time.

This is his retirement day.

Hereafter, William H. Santlemann, jr., will guide the slim white stick over the musical unit that stirred the colonial air with its first notes more than a century and a half ago.

The surrender of the baton is history repeating itself, for the man who takes it up is the son of the man who handed it to Branson.

COUNTY TRIMS TRAFFIC TOLL

Only Two Deaths Reported in First Quarter, Half Number for Same Period in '39.

While the nation was marking up a five per cent gain in traffic deaths for the first two months of this year, Richland county held its own during that period and then went ahead to better its safety record by 50 per cent for the first quarter of the year.

With only three days remaining in the first quarter, the county has had only two fatal accidents as compared with four in the same period last year.

Mansfield has not had a fatal accident so far in 1940. Two persons injured outside the county, however, have died in General hospital, both in the past five days. The victims, James Ernsberger, Mansfield, and Lawrence Fineberg, Cleveland Heights, were injured in Morrow county accidents.

One of the county's fatalities this year was Feb. 11 and the other on March 10. For the first time in recent years, there was no fatality in January.

The National Safety council reported today that 225 cities in the nation escaped without a traffic fatality in January and February. Largest in the group was Evansville, Ind., with 105,000 population.

Of the larger cities, St. Louis continued to hold first place for safety, with a death rate of 8.7 per cent. Cleveland ranked second with 9.1 per cent. In the smaller population group, Lakewood and Springfield, O., reported no traffic deaths for the first two months of the year.

National fatalities to March 1 totaled 4,800 as against 4,550 in the corresponding two months of last year.

Death Ends Colorful, Tragic Career of Col. Astor's Widow

(By International News Service)

PALM BEACH, Fla.—One of the most colorful women in New York society and yet one of its most tragic and lonely figures, Mrs. Madeline Force Astor Dick Fiermonte, died of a heart attack early today in her home here. She was 48.

At her side when death came was John Jacob Astor, 3rd, her son by her first marriage to Col. John Jacob Astor, in his day one of New York's wealthiest men.

Death ended her spectacular career and the unhappiness of her later years in the luxurious surroundings of her winter home.

She had once been called by Cholly Knickerbocker, the society columnist, "the loneliest woman in New York."

Her career took her from a quiet girlhood in Brooklyn to exclusive and Swanky Newport, R. I. There, as a girl of 18, she became the bride of Col. Astor. He was almost three times her age. He married her despite objections from friends and family.

The first tragedy in her life came in the Titanic disaster. There the young bride saw her husband Col Astor swept to his death in the sea. And with his death the loneliness that clung to her through life first engulfed her.

CO-ED, INFANT MURDERED IN PENNSYLVANIA

Freshman Girl, 17, Attacked and Beaten to Death Near School Building.

BABY'S HEAD SEVERED

Child's Body Found Wrapped in Sack in Basement of Philadelphia Home.

Two shocking murders came to light today in Pennsylvania, dispatches to The News-Journal said.

One was the slaying of a Pennsylvania State college co-ed at State College, Pa., and the other was in Philadelphia where the headless body of a three weeks old infant was found in a basement coal bin.

The co-ed was identified as Rachael H. Taylor, 17, of Wildwood, N. J., home economics student who enrolled at the college last September.

The almost-nude body of the girl was found at 6:30 a. m. by Harold Leighley, a janitor at the Lemont consolidated school, who almost ran over the victim as he drove up to the school.

A physician who performed an autopsy on the body said the girl definitely was a victim of a sex maniac. Her skull had been crushed and there were marks of mutilation on the body.

The scene of the slaying, a lonely road, is not far from Rockview penitentiary at Bellefonte.

The girl was en route to school from her Easter vacation when she met death. College authorities said she left home on a bus scheduled to arrive here at 1:30 a. m. today.

The bus station is about a half mile from the school dormitory where the victim roomed. School authorities said she never reached the school last night.

An honor student at Wildwood high school, the girl was the daughter of Percy Taylor, New Jersey commercial fisherman, authorities said.

Wrapped In Sack.

The body of three-week-old Beatrice Menichella was found wrapped in a burlap bag in the gloom of a basement coal bin today shortly after the infant's mother discovered her missing from her crib.

REBUFFS STATE

Court Ruling Offsets Victory in Murder Clean-up.

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The first victory scored by the commonwealth in its efforts to smash a ruthless slay-for-pay syndicate was nullified today, temporarily at least, by a Pennsylvania supreme court decision granting a new trial to a man sentenced to death.

The man is Herman Petrillo, foxy, 41-year-old former spaghetti salesman and an alleged leader of the ring. He was convicted a year ago of poisoning a WPA worker who, investigators contend, was among scores of persons slain for insurance in eastern states.

The supreme court, in a ruling yesterday at Pittsburgh, sharply rebuked the judge who presided at Petrillo's trial, declaring the defendant did not receive a fair chance.

DEFENSE RESTS

Accused Toledo Killer To Know Jury Decision Soon.

TOLEDO — (AP) — The defense rested today in the first degree murder trial of Ernest Kish, 20, accused of the holdup-slaying of Nelson Berkey, gasoline filling station attendant Nov. 19, 1939, in which 22 cents was stolen.

Kish also is being tried on three charges of robbery, including the Berkey holdup, and the robbery of another gasoline service station and a bus driver.

Welles Back, Speeds Report to Roosevelt

Fact-Finding Envoy to Warring Europe Arrives In N. Y., Holds Silence on Trip; Train Takes Him to Capital.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—Admitting only "every cooperation was given to me to get the information for which I was sent," Sumner Welles, President Roosevelt's fact-finding envoy to warring Europe, returned today on the Italian liner Conte De Savoia.

Welles was met at the pier by police who convoyed him to a train for Washington.

The under secretary of state who was sent abroad to explore the possibilities of peace in Europe was reticent about discussing his trip except to reveal that he carried on under the physical strain of an attack of influenza.

Smiling, poised, Welles parried a hundred questions flung at him with "no comment."

"I am glad to be home; I have no statement to make; I have no news to offer," he asserted in opening a shipboard interview.

"I shall take the first train for Washington and any statement about my trip will come from the White House."

He responded readily to only one other question—"Why did you take an Italian ship rather than an American ship?"

"I am glad you brought that up," he said. "My orders were to take the first available ship and it so happened that an Italian boat was the first to leave. I would have had to waste six days waiting for an American boat to cross and five days waiting to return."

Asked if he brought any peace proposals with him, Welles said

LONDON COULD DO NO BETTER

Traffic Gropes as 'Pea Soup' Fog Envelops Area; Planes Grounded at Cleveland.

A "pea soup" fog, as thick as any that ever settled over London, blanketed Mansfield and Richland county last night and all but stopped traffic.

Street lights and electric signs in the city cut through the fog, but in the outlying districts the mist was impenetrable, completely blotting out highway intersections and traffic hazards. The fog settled down over this area early last evening and had not lifted entirely this afternoon.

Air traffic was hampered as well and no planes took off or landed at the Cleveland tirport during the night.

The temperature continued warmer today and the forecast is for cloudy and warmer today and tomorrow with occasional showers. The temperature dropped to 35 during the night, but had warmed up to 45 this noon.

While Mansfield had a .29 of an inch rainfall during the night, cities in the lake region were "treated" to another snowfall yesterday afternoon and evening which turned to deep slush after a rain.

The average temperature for the past 24 hour period was only one degree below the normal of 41 far the past 15 years.

POLICE BULLETS WOUND GUNMAN

Hit In Gunfire As Officers Surprise Him In Burglary.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—A blazing gun battle with police on the streets of suburban St. Bernard ended today in the serious wounding of a former two-term convict, surprised in the act of burglarizing a gasoline filling station.

Registered as Elmer Hoffman, about 39, he was shot through the stomach and left leg.

Patrolman Marvin Campbell reported that six shots fired by Hoffman during the exchange went wild.

Police records show that Hoffman's criminal career started when he was 16.

SEARCH PARTY MOVES BODIES TO MAINLAND

Wreckage Scattered Over 150 Feet of Ice, Four Miles From Shore.

MADE REGULAR FLIGHTS

Pilot, Two Passengers Killed By Plunge Between Pelee Island, Leamington.

LEAMINGTON, Ont.—The bodies of Pilot Tom Higgins and two passengers were found by a searching party today in the wreckage of the Pelee island mail plane on frozen Lake Erie four miles off Leamington.

The passengers were Mabel Tessier, 20, North Ridge, Ont., and Sam Kovinsky.

The plane disappeared yesterday on the 15-mile hop from Pelee island.

Pilot Norman C. Reynolds, of Walkerville, who first sighted the plane said the fuselage and wings of the mail plane were scattered over 150 feet of the rough ice, four miles from the mainland.

He reported no signs of life among the desolate ice surrounding the wreckage.

Earlier reports there were three women on the plane were discounted by Pelee island officials who said the plane had landed at Pelee yesterday and was returning to Leamington when it crashed.

They said Mrs. James McInnes and her 18-year-old daughter, Elsie, disembarked at Pelee and returned home.

On the return trip besides Pilot Higgins, 35, of Toronto, were Miss Tessier, sweetheart of Higgins' mechanic, James Sherratt, and Sam Kovinsky, Leamington fur dealer.

The plane, which makes regular flights from Leamington to Pelee island, 16 miles distant, took off yesterday and headed into the fog toward Pelee. Leamington residents reported they heard the plane's motor sputtering shortly after the take-off and then heard it crash.

Searchers along the shore failed to locate the plane. The ice prevented coast guard cutters from joining the search. Rescue planes were forced to return, visibility was so poor over the lake.

There was no news from the island as the telephone cable between Pelee and Leamington broke Jan. 1. The plane provided one means of communication between the island and mainland.

SET TAX RECORD

265 Crowd Courthouse to Pay Assessments in One Day.

The county had one of its biggest days on record yesterday in the collection of personal taxes with 265 property owners paying a total of $4,026 into the county treasury.

The taxpayers jammed the main corridor of the courthouse where Auditor Norman L. Wolfe and six helpers aided them in making out their tax returns. Next Monday is the last day returns can be filed without a penalty.

Yesterday's payments brought the total personal tax receipts for the year to $40,859.

More than one-third of the taxes are still unpaid, however, officials said.

Real estate tax receipts were expected to pass the $400,000 mark today with 12 more days to go before the payment deadline.

KAYOES MAID

Prowler In Denver House Slugs Woman, Then Flees.

DENVER—(AP)—A prowler who mubbled "where's the baby?" knocked a maid unconscious early today in the home of Mrs. Edith Lowe, widow of the late John Lowe, Dayton, O., paint manufacturer.

The maid, Mrs. Margaret Hill, about 36, set off a burglar alarm while struggling with the intruder. Police found her unconscious with severe bruises on the head and neck. The prowler fled.

Thousands Still Without '40 Auto Tags as Deadline Nears

The Mansfield deputy registrar's office will have to sell 3,387 sets of auto license plates in three days if the estimated 10,000 are sold before the April 1 deadline for old plates.

Sales have taken a big drop this week in comparison with the final week of March last year, Jack Berger, assistant deputy registrar, said today, but they are still 174 ahead of last year's sales for the same period.

Up to this morning 6,613 passenger car plates had been sold as compared with 6,439 last year.

Although the deadline for 1939 plates is midnight Sunday night, Cy Wallace, state registrar of vehicles, has ordered that no tags be sold on Sunday. The Mansfield office open from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. daily, will close at 8 p. m. Saturday.

There are seven other deputy registrars in the county at whose offices licenses may be purchased. They are Lee Henry, Olivesburg; W. E. Morris, Shelby; D. A. Spayde, Butler; Clarence M. Erwin, Plymouth; George Page, Shiloh; Mrs. Minnie Banks, Lucas, and Mrs. Ellen Bowers, Bellville.

'MILLINERY' SELLING CARS

Motor Industry Using Appeal To Eye as Market Nears 'Saturation' Point.

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT—The "millinery" aspect of motorcar merchandising has become an important factor in the continued high volume of retail distribution despite the fact there are more than 30,000,000 vehicles in use in the United States at present.

The "millinery" aspect, as the motor industry's engineers and car designers see it, is the "eye appeal" of the annual new models as contrasted with the mechanical improvements that are being made. In many respects, say these authorities, the beauty of design is being discussed more frequently by intending new car purchasers than are the engineering advances.

There are many among the motorcar makers who believe there is a fair prospect the total registration of automobiles in the United States will reach the 35,000,000 mark before very long. Others believe the present level is close to the capacity of the present population and highway system to absorb.

This perhaps is another way of admitting that a form of "saturation" has arrived in the automobile market, but the car designers and distributors point out that replacement demand has provided most of the retail market for many years.

In connecting this "saturation" thought with the general expectation of an output in excess of 42,000,000 this year, the trade authorities explain that considerably more than that number of passenger cars and trucks are long overdue at the scrap heap.

WELLES BACK, SPEEDS REPORT TO ROOSEVELT

Fact-Finding Envoy to Europe Arrives in N. Y. and Takes Train for Washington.

"I refer you to my Rome statement." (In that statement he said he was not bringing a proposal back.)

His answer was "no comment" to these questions:

How did Hitler look? How did Mussolini look? Did Hitler do all the talking? Is Hitler in good health? Do you expect a "big push" in the spring? How did wartime London strike you?

Several times, Welles, smilingly shook his head to say:

"I have no comment on any personalities."

Toured Europe With Welles, Tells of Trip.

(Editor's Note: Everett R. Holles, United Press correspondent, was the only press association representative to accompany Sumner Welles on his fact-finding tour of Europe. In the following dispatch, free of censorship or other restrictions, Holles reports on the undersecretary of state's tour of the European capitals.)

By EVERETT R. HOLLES

(UP Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK — Sumner Welles returned today from his tour of Europe's war capitals carrying a small brown case crammed with confidential reports for President Roosevelt.

I accompanied the American under-secretary of state every step of the way.

Welles isn't talking for the record. But for any one who followed every phase of his inquiry into conditions in the belligerent countries and in Italy certain trends can be reported now which must have affected the American diplomat's conclusions.

These trends—sometimes clouded abroad by censorship or other restrictions—are indicated by the following observations based on European reaction to the Welles visit:

1. Premier Benito Mussolini for the last three weeks has been giving many Europeans the impression that he believes Germany now has a chance to win the war. For almost the first time since the conflict started last September, the Italian press (always under orders) is boasting again of the Rome-Berlin alliance and is making use freely of the word "axis."

2. The allies are confident they are winning air superiority over Germany — and they have barely tapped their resources or manpower which are being organized to wage a war of eight or ten years if necessary.

3. Allied confidence in the early effectiveness of their blockade of the reich is less strong than it was two months ago, due largely to the still unanswered question of how great a role Soviet Russia can or will play in the final showdown.

4. Inside Germany, there is nothing to indicate a crack-up in morale. Regimentation of Germany's war effort is at a peak and it is difficult to see any basis at the moment for allied hopes of internal troubles plaguing Adolf Hitler.

5. There is little chance that Welles—or anybody else—can find any acceptable formula for peace in the immediate future.

DEATH CLOSES COLORFUL LIFE

Widow of Col. Astor, Victim of Titantic Disaster, Dies at Florida Home.

widows, she became the mother of the son who was at her bedside at her death.

In 1916 she became the wife of William K. Dick, a New York socialite who had amassed a fortune in sugar. She had two sons by him, William and John Dick. They had been her constant companions of late.

Her marriage with Dick was also doomed and in 1933 the tall, sad woman obtained a Reno divorce.

Then came her most spectacular and also her most tragic period of life.

She had met a young and handsome Italian pugulist, Enzo Fiermonte, and in the same year she obtained a divorce from Dick she married Fiermonte. He was 16 years her junior. He was penniless by the standards of her society and unacceptable in the set in which she travelled. She found him charming at first. But later, they quarreled, and after a series of escapades that put them on the front pages, they were divorced in 1938.

THREE INDICTED IN WIRE TAPPING

Tulsa County Attorney, Police Head Accused as Jury Probes 15-Month Strike.

TULSA—(AP)—A federal grand jury here today indicted the Tulsa county attorney, a former police commissioner, and a policeman for tapping wires in a recent oil workers strike.

Rep. William T. Schulte (D., Ind.) charged in the national house a few days ago that the Tulsa police department had acted as a "strike breaking agency." He further asserted the Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation had "tapped" oil workers union wires with assistance of Oklahoma national guardsmen.

The jury indicted County Attorney Dixie Gilmer; Floyd Rheam, attorney and former police commissioner; William Kelly, a policeman and others yesterday.

The 15-month strike against Mid-Continent was settled last Thursday.

Gilmer commented "I have been indicted for doing my duty. . . . Only in the last fortnight has the department of justice and the Federal Bureau of Investigation determined to abandon this practice of 'wire tapping'." Rheam declined comment.

Maximum penalty on conviction is two years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

VIEW MAINE'S SENTIMENT AS 3RD TERM HELP

Politicos Also Study State's Dems' Designation of Farley as 'Second Choice.'

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Viewing President Roosevelt's victory in the Maine Democratic convention as another sign that he can win renomination if he wants it, capital politicians showed particular interest today in the designation of James A. Farley as Maine's second choice.

The action, however, failed to shed any further light on Farley's attitude toward a third term, Just as Massachusetts Democratic leaders have favored his nomination should the president decline to run, so did the Maine convention pledge aim to votes in such a contingency.

Selection of the Maine delegates raised to 24 the number chosen so far for the Democratic national convention at Chicago July 15.

All are pledged to Mr. Roosevelt, but with strong Farley sentiment predominating if the president is not a candidate. Alaska has chosen six delegates and New Hampshire eight. There will be 1,100 votes in the convention.

Out of their 1,000 delegates, Republicans have selected 44, divided among Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio, Publisher Frank Gannett, and uninstructed. Eight of the latter are favorable to Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire.

Senator Pepper (D., Fla.), a third term advocate, said the Maine pledged to Mr. Roosevelt was an "indication of the general sentiment of the country."

Senator Minton (D., Ind.), a booster for Paul V. McNutt, predicted that there would be "if" delegations all down the line. He said his own state of Indiana would be for Mr. Roosevelt if he runs and for McNutt, former Indiana governor, if he doesn't.

Senator Smith (D., S. C.), opposed to a third term, referred to the scattering of "noes" when the Maine vote was taken, and commented:

"There will be more noes than that later on. Maine has been so everlastingly and eternally Republican that they'd vote for any man who happened to be a symbol of Democratic success.

"Whose bread I eat, whose song I sing. They are hoping to get some crumbs thrown up there."

MANY LEADERS HIT HANDICAP IN MARKET SALES

Wall Street Still in Optimistic Mood Following Market Bulge Wednesday.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Aircrafts continued to edge forward in today's stock market but many of yesterday's climbing leaders encountered profit selling handicaps.

At a standstill or a shade lower were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Western Union, Du Pont, American Can and N. Y. Central.

Wall Street was still in an optimistic mood as the result of Wednesday's market bulge but many traders inclined to cash in.

Bonds were steady and commodities mixed. European securities markets improved.

Market followers gave some thought to signs of lagging activities in spring building. The Engineering News-Record estimated construction awards for the week ended Tuesday amounted to $45,018,000 against $52,202,000 the week before and $59,044,000 in the comparable 1939 period. Total awards for the year to date were placed at 20 per cent under the same time last year.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

YOUTHS JAILED IN OHIO HOLDUP

Trio Admits $150 Robbery, Claim Slaying of West Union Boy Accident.

(By Associated Press)

WILMINGTON — Three youths captured quietly at the end of a two-day hunt throughout southwestern Ohio were questioned further today in connection with a $150 holdup of a huckster and the apparently accidental shotgun death of a fourth boy.

The trio was caught late yesterday afternoon in the home of a relative of one in Hamilton. Police Chief Everett Downing of Wilmington, who made the arrest with Hamilton and West Union officers, reported two had confessed the robbery and described the fatal shooting of John Baldwin, 17, on a narrow country road near West Union in Adams county. The third was not questioned immediately.

The two, registered as Orville Hampton, 20, and Robert Abbott, 18, both of Wilmington, were charged with taking $18 and a quantity of cigarets from a general store in Melvin, near here, before the holdup of William McKee, the West Union huckster. The third, only 17, will be charged with stealing the car used in the McKee holdup, Sheriff J. E. Hodson, announced.

However, Chief Downing said that all three probably would be sent to West Union today to face the more serious armed robbery charges being prepared by Adams county authorities.

Police said the trio claimed Baldwin was killed when a shotgun was discharged when one of them threw it on the floor of the truck after they had robbed McKee Baldwin was in the truck and the charge struck him in the groin. The others drove him to a physician's office and left him at the door. He died 15 minutes later.

Miller Loses Disputed Decision In Amateur Tourney

Judges Give Emerson Nod In Slow Bout

18-Year-Old Loudonville Lad More Than Holds Own Against Mansfielder at Senior High.

By CHARLES MARTIN

LUSTY BOOS from the throats of some 500 fans vibrated through the Mansfield high gymnasium last night after a judges' verdict in the final match robbed a promising Loudonville lightweight a chance at winning a championship in the third annual Junior Association of Commerce A. A. U. boxing tournament.

Bob Miller, an 18-year-old leatherite, is the lad. Although he failed to dish out the punishment against John Emerson, Mansfield, in the finale, that he did in a previous bout, he was aggressive and everyone but the judges seemed to think Miller deserved the decision.

* * *

With 18 matches still remaining on the list, the tourney opens Friday night with two exhibition bouts, eight semi-finals and a like number of championship affairs to be run off.

* * *

Mansfield still has five boys in the running. Friday's meet will start at 8:15 p. m. and Miller will appear in one of the exhibitions. All the Mansfielders will be after different titles.

Miller, who decisioned hard-hitting Jack Hodges, 136, of Marion, led the battle from the opening gong and a couple of times had Emerson in a bad way.

In attempting to stage a rally in the final heat, Emerson pumped a couple of hard rights, but they weren't enough to win the match.

Young Miller appeared tired in the first round but he came out in the second to open up a body attack that should have given him the round. Near the end of that session he lopped over two rights that didn't do Emerson any good.

Pushing the attack in the third, Miller held a decided edge until the Mansfielder landed those two rights along side his rivals head. Paul Eliot, who along with Jess Willard and Ray Morgan are the judges, was the only one to favor Miller.

Employing a neat uppercut, Miller had marked himself as one of the leading candidates for the 135-pound championship in whipping Hodges. Emerson returned to tournament competition last night after Joe Montagno, 133 Marion, failed to appear for his bout.

Al Sauer, lightheavyweight, will lead the city brigade. He is determined to win the crown relinquished by Jake Zachatias, who didn't enter this spring's classic.

Seers Pick Red Sox to Take Flag

Say Yankees Are Overdue for Some Bad Breaks; Boston Is Hitting.

By GAYLE TALBOT

TAMPA, Fla. — (AP) — A number of baseball seers encountered in a final swing around the training camps have about decided to pick the Boston Red Sox to win the American league pennant, partly on a hunch that the Yankees are overdue for some bad breaks, but mainly because of the terrific way the Sox are hitting the ball.

* * *

Joe Cronin's club is impressive, at that. It will need only a little better pitching than it got last season to give the Yanks a tussle. One 20-game pitcher would please Cronin. Gray-haired Lefty Grove topped the staff with 15 wins last season.

* * *

Joe now thinks he might have his 20-game man coming up in young Jim Bagby. Jim was a sensation in his freshman year, but it went to his head, and last season he got shipped back to the minors.

* * *

The Sox have been hitting at an awesome clip, even with Jimmie Foxx slower than usual in getting his batting eye. In only two of their first 10 games did they fail to make three hits in succession at least once. Against Lou Fette of the Bees I watched them pound five bingles in a row.

* * *

Obviously, they won't maintain such a pace in the regular campaign, but a team with that much natural power is bad medicine when it gets any kind of pitching.

William Neale, of Toledo, business manager, comes here Saturday to take up his duties.

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY McLEMORE

DAYTONA BEACH - (AP) — Is Joe Louis slipping? This question has been put to me by many people in many states, particularly since the champion's 15-round engagement with the bruising Chilean, Arturo Godoy.

* * *

It is a natural question, because the time has come for him to slip. According to statistics reached by a study of the heavyweight champions of the past, the average champion holds the title less than four years. Joe will have reigned three years this coming June unless Johnny Paycheck defeats him in Madison Square Garden next Friday night.

* * *

My answer to this question has always been in the negative. He has made nine defenses of his title to date, and I have seen all but one or two of them. Unless I know even less about boxing than I think I do, I have never detected any serious signs of deterioration. He has had his off nights, of course, when his hitting wasn't as sharp as usual and his mobility left something to be desired. But such times come to all athletic champions.

Perhaps the three fights that started people wondering how much longer Louis would last were his fights with Tommy Farr, Tony Galento and Arturo Godoy.

For some reason or another these bouts left the citizenry with the feeling that he wasn't the invincible killer he once was. On me, they had the opposite effect. I thought Joe was a tremendously effective boxer against Farr, and I gave the Welchman but three rounds. Against Galento he rose from the floor after being felled by one of the hardest hitters the game has produced, and went on to finish his man in the fourth round.

I was in California when he fought Godoy, but I saw the pictures and nothing that the camera recorded gave me cause to believe he was beaten or even in danger of being beaten. I thought he adjusted himself to the situation of being faced by a combination of clown and ape amazingly well.

Boxing followers in general are apt to forget that a champion's business is to win and that it is much more important to win, even if he has to look bad doing it, than to lose in a spectacular and flamboyant manner.

The heavyweight title is worth a million or more dollars to a man, and he would be a fool to needlessly risk breaking his hands or suffering cuts with heroic tactics, when victory was obtainable in a safe, sane, though dull, manner.

* * *

Paycheck is a strong hitter, which means that he must always be given a chance against any one with the normal quota of hands, arms and legs. Louis knows this and may choose to never offer Johnny a chance to throw the punch that made him the toast of the corn belt. And he can't be blamed if he does.

* * *

Louis has known the hard and hungry life, and having put it behind him by means of the heavyweight championship, can scarcely be criticized for trying to retain that championship with every means at his command.

Pontiacs Hit 2912 In City 'A' League

THE WEIDNER PONTIACS stepped into the spotlight by annexing team scoring honors with a 2912 in the City Class A league at the Meder alleys last night.

With Brig Young leading the way the Pontiacs, who finished with an even 1000, collected 2912 pins to cop team honors for the first time this season.

* * *

Young set the individual pace for the evening by dumping 631 maples. He led the Pontiacs to two wins over the Mansfielders. Mike Meder trailed Young with a 606. The Mansfielders, incidentally, had a 1002 opening game.

* * *

Gimble took second place in the individual scoring by marking up a 625. He paced the Ingram and Martin Oldsmobiles. Four other City league bowlers hit the 600 mark. They were Dale Cleckner of the Mansfielders, who had a 606; Harold Selby, a member of the Long Bar club, 602; Wentz, Lutz Lumber team member, 601, and Wolf of the Oldsmobiles, an even 600.

Perrine annexed honors in the Westinghouse league with a 620, with Forman following by virtue of his 609 total.

Tourney Sidelights

By KEN WOODMAN

BESIDE THE POINTS: Last night's second shovelful of amateur boxing bouts heaved by the Mansfield Junior Association of commerce had plenty outside the ropes in addition to what went on under the lights.

* * *

'Barker' John Catlett got the evening's extraneous business off to a start by blaming the lack of volume in the public address system onto the sun spots which have been disrupting wire communications.

* * *

Judges Paul M. Eliot, Jess Willard, and Ray Morgan pitched a boo-rouser into the crowd by declaring "no contest" in the bout between Glen Dickson and Clarence Harrison, both of Richwood.

On the spot because the A. A. U. rules do not permit a "no contest" decision, Referee John Eichinger raised the hand of Harrison, explaining: "I heard Dickson tell the other boy not to fight."

More boos, and from then on the evening belonged to the crowd.

* * *

LOOKING THROUGH THE ROPES: Bob Miller, promising Loudonville prospect forget about the funnel and let fly a between-rounds mouthful of water directly at the timekeepers and press table. But that didn't keep anybody from applauding with both hands at the end of his bout with Jack Hodges, Marion.

One hand was for Miller who took the 2-1 decision and the other for Hodges who propped himself up on his foe's corner and took good hard punches as though he were built on a swivel.

In the bout between Charlie Gwynn, Columbus, and Bob Emerson, Mansfield, one of Emerson's lefts doubled the Columbus boy up between the ropes in the second round but he catapulted out and leveled Emerson on the canvas just in time to be saved by the bell.

* * *

Gwynn took the decision and the crowd took a quick deep breath to commence cheering for Ray Bowman, Ashland, easily the most popular fighter of the night, who knocked down Carl Hughes, Columbus, four times in the third round.

* * *

Matchmaker Jim Morgan promises 18 bouts for the final show Friday night when the J.A.C. winds up its third annual Golden Gloves tournament.

SPORTS GOSSIP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK—(AP)—Scooparade: It's a fact that Lee Savold turned thumbs down on a June title bout with Joe Louis . . . Mike Jacobs nearly swallowed his store teeth when Lee told him he'd rather whip another good guy first . . . We don't blame him for taking care of himself as long as possible—but then there's the angle that opportunity and the postman may not ring twice.

* * *

Anyway, with Billy Conn on the shelf for another six months, Lee's postponed fight with Bob Pastor may be put on as an outdoor show in Detroit this summer.

"THE DOGS DO BARKS."

Reason La Berg passed up the Mid-South tournament (which she won last year) to hurry back home, was tootsie trouble . . . For some reason most femmes on the grape fruit circuit have been complaining of their dogs this season. . . . The U. S. G. A. didn't like it a little bit when Bud Ward, U. S. amateur champ, flew 3,000 miles from his home port at Spokane to the St. Augustine pro-amateur tournament. (The brass hats think it might have been a publicity stunt.) . . . Old Wes Ferrell has just about cinched a berth with the Dodgers.

Yonkers Team Holds Pin Lead

New York Club Keeps at Top As Tourney Enters 4th Week.

DETROIT—(AP)—An unheralded team from Yonkers, N. Y., held the lead as the fourth week of the American Bowling Congress opened today while some of the pre-tournament favorites found themselves far down the list of also-rans.

* * *

The Yonkers outfit, bowling on the midnight shift under the colors of the Hollywood Recreation, put together games of 977-995-959 for a score of 2931, nine pins better than the previous leaders, the Chicago Ambrosias.

* * *

The Hermann Undertakers team of St. Louis, national match champions and favorites to upset the leaders, got a case of A. B. C. jitters and ended up with 2676, far out of the money.

The midnight upset marked the first change in leaders during a day devoted mainly to the minor events.

Indians Bring Players North For First Tilt

Six Newcomers Are Listed on Squad; Four May Be Dropped From 14-Man Pitching Staff.

FORT MYERS—(AP)—Six newcomers are listed today on the 29-player Cleveland squad which Manager Oscar Vitt will take north for the opening of the season.

Pitcher Don Pulford, from New Orleans; Pitcher Al Smith, Buffalo, Shortstop Russ Peters, Atlanta; Catcher Jim Hegan, Wilkes-Barre; Outfielder Clarence Campbell, New Orleans, and Outfielder Beau Bell, obtained in a Detroit trade, are the new Indians.

* * *

Four must be dropped from the squad before May 15 and it is likely all will come from the 14-man pitching staff.

* * *

The "opening" squad: Pitchers Johnny Allen, Johnny Broaca, Joe Dobson, Harry Eisenstat, Bob Feller, Mel Harder, Willis Hudlin, Johnny Humphries, Ken Jungels, Al Milnar, Mike Naymick, Bill Uber, Pulford and Smith.

Catchers Rollie Hemsley, Henry Helf and Hegan.

Infielders Lou Boudreau, Oscar Grimes, Sammy Hale, Ken Keltner, Ray Mack, Hal Trosky and Peters.

Outfielders Roy Weatherly, Ben Chapman, Jeff Heath, Campbell and Bell.

* * *

Hegan or Helf probably will be cut when and if Holdout Frankie Pytlak comes to terms. Owner Alva Bradley said the mite catcher was paid $11,500 last season and had been offered $8,000 this year. Bradley said he wouldn't trade the Buffalo player until he had signed and warned him to prepare to "stay home all summer" if he was waiting for the club to raise their offer or swap him.

* * *

Doctors have removed the cast from Boudreau's cracked ankle and the peppy shortstop hopes to be ready for the opener at Chicago April 16.

* * *

Fort Myers fans selected Naymick as the team's most popular player in a recent poll.

CLEVELAND RAMS SIGN DICK FAVOR AND BOGDEN

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Cleveland Rams will show at least two new players to National league football fans next fall. They signed Quarterback Dick Favor, once of Oklahoma, and End Pete Bogden from Utah, trading Center Chuch Cherundolo to the Philadelphia Eagles for Favor.

Junior High Schools to Play for Cage Honors.

Rivalry between John Simpson and Johnny Appleseed junior highs will reach a high mark next week when the two schools battle it out on the basketball floor. Students from the seventh, eighth and ninth grades will make up the two quintets. Thinks Superb Pitching Will Aid Red Team

McKechnie Pronounces His Mound Corps 'Best.'

WINTER HAVEN, Fla.—(U P)—Grizzled Will McKechnie, shrewd boss of the Cincinnati Reds, believes that superb pitching will make his club a top bidder for another National league pennant.

* * *

Taking stock of the first month of spring training, wily Will pronounced his mound corps as "the best in the league."

* * *

The Reds were here today for an exhibition tilt with the New York Giants. A scheduled game yesterday between the two clubs at Tampa was rained out.

"Derringer and Walters are in fine shape," explained McKechnie as he mulled over the Redleg hurling prospects. "They look as good as they did in the last half of the 1939 season."

(For the benefit of the uninformed, Paul Derringer and Bucky Walters won 52 games for Cincinnati last year.)

"Jim Turner's arm is okay and he should be a winner for us," continued the Deacon. "And this kid Gene Thompson has a chance of becoming one of the game's outstanding pitchers. He has everything, including poise."

McKechnie said he has not given up on Johnny Vander Meer who seems to be getting over his early nervousness.

As for the rest of the Redleg roster, McKechnie said it was set at every position except left field. He said the fight for that job was still open between Mike McCormick and Vince DiMaggio, both of whom have trouble at bat.

* * *

McKechnie hinted that Lonnie Frey will start the season at his old spot at second base despite the current favoritism for Eddie Joost. Joost and Russ Bevell are likely to be the Reds' utility infielders this season. The Red bosses are still trying to dispose of the veteran Lew Riggs.

* * *

Two rookies were lopped off the roster yesterday. Pitcher Lloyd Dietz was waived to Pittsburgh and Outfielder Milt Galatzer was sold back to Indianapolis.

Hogan In Lead at Greensboro Open

GREENSBORO, N. C. — (AP) — Going into the last 36 holes of the $5,000 Greensboro open tournament today Ben Hogan held a three-stroke lead over Gene Sarazen and Ralph Guldahl.

* * *

You hardly could cook up tougher opposition, but Hogan looked equal to holding it off. He has been under par five of his last six rounds of tournament play.

* * *

Guldahl shot a 67 that was four under par and tied him with Sarazen at 140 yesterday, so he might be considered the best bet to overtake Hogan.

MILLER LOSES DISPUTED DECISION IN TOURNEY

Other Mansfielders in addition to Al Sauer and Emerson are Frank Truly, 119, Joe Sauer, 147, and Sam Walker, 124, from the settlement.

Ray Howman, flashy Ashland lightweight, established himself as a late starter last night. He went berserk in the final round to score a decisive win over Carl Hughes, 135, of Columbus. The latter was on the floor four times in that stanza.

The blond bomber staged a thrilling rally Tuesday night to beat Dan Matthews, 135, Columbus.

* * *

John Emerson's brother, Bob, a featherweight, dropped out of the tourney by losing a decision to Charlie Gynn, 127, Columbus. Bob was unable to penetrate Gynn's tight defense in the first two frames and then held on during the third after taking several hard blows.

The two Friendly House boys, Harris and Walker, came through with flying colors. Both looked good, and had an easy time in winning.

Conn Ready to Meet Louis

Will Fight Joe for Crown If Terms Are Right.

PITTSBURGH—(AP) — Manager Johnny Ray is ready for light heavyweight champ Billy Conn to challenge Joe Louis for the heavyweight crown "if the terms are satisfactory."

* * *

He's anxious that the fight be held this year and will motor to New York with Conn today for a conference with Promoter Mike Jacobs prior to tomorrow night's Louis-Paychek battle.

* * *

The 23-year-old Conn still is suffering from an attack of boils which twice forced postponement of his title defense against Gus Lesnevich, but Ray said he was willing to put him in the ring with Louis as early as June. The Lesnevich fight would be carried out before that time. Conn now weighs 180.

Jim Heffner Signs For 'Hun' Match

Jimmy Heffner, the flashing wrestling star from Sherman, Texas whose only defeat on the local wrestling pad was at the hands of the weird masked matman who calls himself "The Hun" will attempt to wipe that blot from his record and do the fans of Mansfield a good turn at one and the same time on next Monday night.

On that date Jimmy will meet "The Hun" in a return match for which Jimmy has worked long and hard but with a firm, burning purpose which bodes ill for the masked matman when he does clamber into the same ring with him on that date.

THEATERS

"Virginia City" Continues.

The intriguing story of gold-smuggling during the final stages of the Civil war, "Virginia City," is being held over through Friday at the Ohio theater. Errol Flynn, a Union Intelligence officer, escapes from a confederate prison and learns of a conspiracy to smuggle five million dollars worth of gold out of Virginia City to aid the south, but he doesn't realize that Miriam Hopkins, with whom he is in love, is one of the conspirators. The situation becomes even more exciting when Humphrey Bogart in the role of a bandit attacks the Union Garrison, and the gold caravan starts its mad dash during the raid.

* * *

Penner Comedy.

A comedy of errors in which a girl-shy young man believes a group of dazzling dolls are old women with their faces lifted, and the comely cuties think the shy fellow is a notorious play-boy, is told in Joe Penner's current film, "Millionaire Playboy." Most of the action takes place at a mountain resort where Joe, as the timid youth, is taken to be cured of his strange affliction of hic-coughing whenever a girl kisses him. This will be the Friday show at the Madison.

* * *

Thrills of East and West.

For those who enjoy drama, replete with thrills, the Park theater shows "Wolf of New York," Friday and Saturday. The story deals with the efforts of a young criminal lawyer to save a client of whose innocence he is convinced. Circumstantial evidence points to his guilt and he is tried and sentenced to death in the electric chair. When the lawyer becomes district attorney he is able to establish the innocence of the man. Edmund Lowe and Rose Hobart with James Stephenson are in the cast. The co-feature is the three Mesquiteers in "Red River Range" featuring John Wayne.

* * *

Alaskan Trail-Blazers.

Fist-fighting fliers blazing an air trail over the Alaskan wilderness are the central figures in the Richard Arlen-Andy Devine co-starring action drama, "Legion of Lost Fliers" which is showing at the Ritz theater Friday and Saturday. The three Mesquiteers are also to be seen at the Ritz in "Cowboys From Texas." In this picture the trio co-operates to put down a villainous plot to cheat Texas homesteaders of their lands.

* * *

Stage Success Filmed.

"Golden Boy," the internationally famous stage success by Clifford Odets, is brought to the screen of the Majestic theater Friday and Saturday. It stars Barbara Stanwyck, Adolphe Menjou and William Holden, in a drama which has been hailed as one of the most gripping stories of raging conflict and romance ever filmed. The co-feature is Charles Starrett in "Two-Fisted Rangers."

PAM— Last Day! By A. W. Brewerton

CLARE, I'M WORRIED ABOUT TODAY—YESTERDAY WAS THE LAST DAY THOSE TERRIBLE MEN SAID THEY'D GIVE COLONEL CAREY TO WITHDRAW HIS CASE—I'M—SO AFRAID SOMETHING WILL HAPPEN TO HIM
THAT'S BAD!
3-28
BUT SHORTLY AFTER PAM REACHED THE OFFICE, THE OLD COLONEL CAME CHEERFULLY IN. PAM BREATHED EASIER!
BLESS HIS HEART, HE DIDN'T SEEM A BIT WORRIED—MAYBE—THEY WERE ONLY—BLUFFING AFTER ALL!
HE'S SUCH A BRAVE OLD WARRIOR!—SURELY HAS THE COURAGE OF HIS CONVICTIONS!
OH—I TRULY HOPE NOTHING HAPPENS TO HIM!
BUT AN HOUR LATER, A TOUGH-LOOKING INDIVIDUAL ENTERED!
YES, SIR!—WOULD YOU LIKE TO SEE HIM?
IS TH' COLONEL IN?
NAW!—JUST GIVE 'IM THIS!

Nazi Munitions Plant Wrecked By Flames.

BERLIN —(INS)— Hundreds of firemen today extinguished a blaze that raged through the Bergmann Supply company's plant, reported to have been converted into a munitions foctory.

Casting a lurid red glow on the sky over North Berlin, the huge fire brought hundreds of regular firemen and all reserve fire squads into action.

Ambulances were sped to the scene but no casualties were reported.

Explosions rent the air as the efforts of fire fighters to quell the flames were handicapped by stored explosives.

Editor's note: The Berlin correspondent of the Copenhagen newspaper Politiken reported damage resulting from the fire would amount to millions of marks. His dispatch stated police are conducting an investigation of the fire with greatest secrecy, and that the possibility of sabotage is being investigated.)

It appeared that the fire began in a workshop of the cartridge-filling section The night shift workers rapidly evacuated the premises as the flames spread quickly, spurred by the explosions

The plant is located in the Berlin suburb of Wilhelmium. Early today one of the largest of the plant's working halls was completely gutted

Norway Refuses to Give Up U-Boat, Crew.

OSLO, Norway —(INS)— Norwegian authorities today refused to accede to German demands that a Nazi U-boat and its crew be released from custody after the craft ran ashore on Norway's west coast.

An official statement revealed that the submarine—identified as the 250-ton U-21—became stranded near the Ryvinga lighthouse Tuesday Its presence was discovered Wednesday and three Norwegian warships and an airplane were sent to the scene

Refloated yesterday with the aid of a German trawler the submarine was taken to a Norwegian port where it was interned and crew members were disarmed.

German legation officials at Oslo demanded a release on grounds that the submarine had become stranded owing to bad weather. The Norwegian government refused this demand. Internment of the submarine and disarming of the crew was carried out after a Norwegian destroyer arrived at the port where the U-boat is held

The German submarine U-21 is armed with a one-pound anti-aircraft gun and three 21-inch torpedo tubes It normally carries a complement of 23 men

Garner's Friends Claim He'll Oppose Trade Program

BATTLE LINES TIGHTEN OVER TREATY ISSUE

Vice President's Open Fight on Program Would Cause Political War, Belief.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Friends of Vice-President John N. Garner predicted today that he would vote against extension of the Roosevelt-Hull reciprocal trade treaty program if the opportunity presents itself.

Openly in the field for the 1940 presidential nomination, Garner has opposed many New Deal measures—often in the secrecy of administration council chambers.

The trade treaty program, however, is considered by the president and his secretary of state as one of the key pillars of the New Deal legislative structure. The vice-president's outright opposition to this particular measure, politicos said, might precipitate open warfare.

Tightening lines in the senate fight over the house-approved resolution extending the trade treaty law for three years made it entirely possible that the vice-president might get a chance to cast his ballot.

The vice-president is permitted to vote whenever there is a tie on a senate roll call. Today the best poll tallied 48 votes supporting the Pittman amendment to require senate ratification of the treaties—tantamount to nullification; 46 against the amendment, and two senators doubtful. Should the two "doubtfuls," Sens. Donahey (D., Ohio) and Schwellenbach (D., Wash.) oppose the extension a tie would result if today's lineup was maintained.

Sen. Harrison (D. Miss.), handling the extension resolution, said he believed President Roosevelt would veto the extension resolution if the Pittman amendment was adopted.

CO-ED AND BABY MURDER VICTIMS

Freshman Girl, 17, Attacked and Beaten to Death Near School Building.

—apparently hacked off by a butcher knife—the head also had been wrapped in the rough sack and tossed along with the child's form into the cellar hiding place in the family's Tacony home.

A newly-washed knife, which police theorized was the instrument used by the slayer, was discovered in a kitchen sink.

Awakening to feed the infant early this morning, the mother, Mrs. Mary Menichella screamed when she saw the bassinet empty. Her cries awakened her husband, Michael, a relief recipient; her son by another marriage, Vincent Nardino, 17; three other children and neighbors.

Convinced by an open dining room window that the child had been abducted, members of the family dispatched Nardino for police, who began an immediate search of the premises.

Patrolmen William Robbins and Joseph Herman discovered Beatrice's body as neighbors crowded the house trying to comfort the distraught woman or stood outside speculating on the baby's disappearance.

Horrified by the slaying, residents of the area described the Menichellas as a "model family" and one that had great rejoicing on the mother's return from a hospital with the new daughter.

Meanwhile, Mrs Menichella, remained uninformed of the true fate of her child, firm in the belief police were searching for a kidnaper.

Menichella became hysterical when requested to accompany members of his family to a police station and had to be carried out to a waiting patrol wagon, police said.

BUYS CHLORINE

City Accepts Low Bid of $735 for 15,000 Pounds.

The city board of control today announced that it had awarded to Kallmerten-Baer, Inc., the contract for delivery of a car of liquid chlorine on the firm's low bid of $735.

Kallmerten's proposal was $15 under the five other bids, all of which were identical.

The proposals for $750 were entered by Voegele Brothers and Direct Coal company of Mansfield, Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing company, Mathieson Alkali Works and the Salvoy Sales corporation.

Specifications call for delivery of one car of liquid chlorine in 100 pound tanks, a total of approximately 15,000 pounds, City Engineer W. C. Statler said. The chlorine is used by the water department.

SOUTH PITTSBURGH, Tenn. (INS)—Gunfire today was revealed to have broken out in a dispute over operation of the Battle Creek mine, recently re-opened under a contract with the Progressive Mine Workers (AFL) after negotiations with the United Mine Workers (CIO) broke down.

Forty miners were stopped with warning shots as they were en route to the mine yesterday, and were warned against working at the mine, at Orme, authorities said. It was reported that several men were struck with shotgun pellets, but none were seriously wounded.

Surviving are her husband, William, a brother, Kenneth Bradrick and an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cornell, Fredericktown, with whom the McMahons had made their home.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Nicholas Dozenberg, one-time Soviet army intelligence agent, was sentenced to a year and a day in federal prison today on his guilty plea some weeks ago to an indictment charging use of two passports obtained by fraudulent statements.

Federal Judge Samuel Mandelbaum rejected the recommendation of U. S. Attorney John T. Cahill that Dozenberg be sentenced to two and one half years, after Dozenberg personally made a plea for the opportunity to "take my place in American society as a loyal and patriotic American citizen.

Dozenberg was a key witness against Earl Browder, general secretary of the Communist party and several times that party's candidate for president of the United States.

HEARING OPENS

Trial Started in $25,000 Suits of Mt. Gilead Woman.

COLUMBUS—Hearing was opened here today in federal court in the $25,000 damage suits brought by Jennie P. Fissel and Jennie Thompson, both of Mt. Gilead, against the Trans-American Freight Lines, Inc.

The suits are the result of an automobile-truck crash on Jan. 10, 1939, which killed Edwin Fissel and Clyde Thompson husbands of the women. The accident occurred on the outskirts of Columbus. At the time of the crash, Thompson was en route here to sit as juror in a United State court criminal case.

Two other men, Kelsey Neal and Jack McKeever, also of Mt. Gilead, who also figured in the accident, died later of injuries sustained at that time.

CONGRESS OFF ON ELECTION YEAR 'SPREE'

Turns Back on Economy, Allots Sharply Increased Funds for U. S. Agencies.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Congress backtracked on its economy drive today and headed instead toward election-year spending likely to complicate the government's financial situation.

The reversed trend, started by senate increases of $210,000,000 in the farm appropriation bill, gained new force yesterday when the house tentatively voted $67,500,000 more than President Roosevelt asked for the CCC and National Youth administration.

Economy advocates, with but faint hopes of checking this trend on roll call votes today, said that these increases indicated the house probably would be more liberal than the president's estimate of $1,000,000,000 for relief next year.

They also predicted the house would back up most of the senate farm increases.

The reason ascribed by the economy forces for the spending swing was that farm, relief, CCC and NYA appropriations appeal directly to certain voter groups.

Woodrum predicted in his speech that congress, despite the increases over budget estimates, would neither vote new taxs nor increase the $45,000,000,000 debt limitation.

He indicated a belief that the problem would be passed along to next January's new Congress. This will be possible since spending probably will not reach the debt limit before the spring of 1941.

The $50,000,000 additional for the CCC and $17,450,000 more for NYA would give CCC $280,000,000 and NYA $202,450,000.

The house appropriations committee, which has been responsible for most of the cuts this session, was undaunted by the decisions. One of its subcommittees was reported to have slashed $60,000,000 from estimates for the army.

Earlier house cuts had run the total congressional reductions in presidential estimates to $303,000,000—up to the time the senate boosted the farm bill.

Examinations for 85 applicants for city positions will be held at 7 p. m. Friday at the new John Simpson junior high school, Atty. James V. Will, secretary of the civil service commission announced today.

Will said the tests, originally scheduled to be held in the municipal court room at the city building, had been shifted in order to provide more room. Two classrooms at the school will be used.

A total of 115 applications for positions as patrolmen, firemen, waterworks pumpmen, draftsmen and rodman were issued, Will said, but only 85 were returned to the board.

The tests will be graded during the next two weeks and those receiving a grade of 70 or better will be placed on the civil service eligible list. Certifications for filling vacancies in these departments will be made from those having the highest grades.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, MARCH 28, 1940.

Any ailment being mistaken for spring fever should be more carefully diagnosed—as it's probably something else.

"Not under any circumstances would I accept the presidential nomination," says Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. Husband and children are still to be heard from.

Father and Son Traffic Victims

WITH Mansfield approaching a period of more serious effort to improve traffic conditions in this city and vicinity, coupled with an attempt to impress more motorists with the importance of cultivating careful driving habits, recent experience of one Mansfield family serves to stress the constant hazards associated with motor travel.

It appears that many people regard an automobile accident as a catastrophe that happens to SOMEONE ELSE, instead of to themselves, but records disclose that such occurrences are as likely to strike one as another, and that constant vigilance is required for even reasonable assurance of highway safety.

The double tragedy of a Mansfield father and son meeting death in traffic crashes within a period of two months may be regarded as a mere coincidence but the fact remains that SUCH THINGS CAN HAPPEN in our own community as well as in more distant places.

Insofar as Mansfield, Richland county and surrounding counties are concerned, traffic problems are local and must be solved locally. There is promise, within another year or two, of legislative enactment of more uniform traffic regulations to apply throughout the state, and there may also be some tightening up of drivers' license requirements.

Meanwhile, however, there should be no minimizing of the importance of stricter enforcement of present laws against speedy, reckless and drunken driving, along with further efforts to educate those drivers who are obviously incompetent to operate a car safely and who constantly endanger pedestrians and other motorists as well as themselves.

Vanishing National Emblem

ONE of the subjects considered at the recent North American Wildlife Conference in Washington was protection of the American eagle. It appears that our national bird, honored on coins and seals and emblems, is persecuted in real life.

The American or bald eagle is essentially an American bird and is found only in North America. It eats fish, but so do many other birds and animals, including man himself. When it doesn't get enough fish it may eat small mammals. It is also a scavenger. But it does not, like the golden eagle, kill young sheep and game birds.

In recent years American eagles have suffered a rapid decline. People have been shooting them through misapprehension of their ways, or because they think it's sport. The American eagle, however, is a home body. It migrates only in a limited range. A pair of eagles will live for many years in the same nest, repaired with the seasons if necessary. When one of a pair is killed the other may bring home another mate, but does not do so invariably.

A bill now before congress, which would make it unlawful to kill these birds wantonly, provides for their legal destruction if in any given case it is proved that one is "doing something bad," such as injuring game or agricultural interests. Such protection appears to be justified, as it would be rather awkward to have the American eagle as our national bird and not have any American eagles.

Trotsky's Ominous Forecast

PREDICTION by Leon Trotsky, during an interview in his Mexican retreat, that the United States will enter the European war—perhaps this year—should not be as lightly put aside as were some of the warnings that preceded America's entry into the first World war.

"It is impossible," explains the exiled Communist chief, "to possess with impunity the most powerful industry, two-thirds of the world's gold reserve and ten millions of unemployed."

This blunt statement will bear thinking about as Trotsky is credited with having one of the keenest minds in the world. And if we are going to use our "most powerful industry" mainly to make war materials for shipment abroad, as was done once before, we may reach a new Armageddon. Our industry should be used primarily to supply our own peaceful needs, which are great.

Possessing "two thirds of the world's gold reserve" is a serious responsibility. Gold is power. Here is the biggest volume of potential power over men and nations ever accumulated in history. What is to be done with it is a problem calling for the best thought of the ablest statesmen, financiers and economists in America.

But the biggest problem, probably, is to be found in those 10,000,000 unemployed who have been without steady or profitable jobs for a long time.

Figures To Keep In Mind

DURING the first 133 years of its existence the United States government spent only sixty-three billion dollars, in the course of which the expense of five wars was defrayed, including the Civil war and the World war. Within the past EIGHT years the federal government has spent $63,628,526,962.

The automobile is not the only contrivance that has shown an amazing increase in speed. Modern American bureaucracy spends public money at a rate that would have been thought impossible a few years ago. It can also create bigger deficits with greater speed than our forefathers could ever conceive —$25,538,000,000 in eight years. Apparently our ability to pile up deficits is surpassed only by our ability to spend.

Housing for Individuals

AN EXPERIMENT to be tried in a Brooklyn, N. Y., housing project sounds worth while. It is the inclusion of single room apartments for elderly men or women living alone. Present plans call for fifty such dwelling units.

The housing needs of individuals of low income have never been considered in such projects hitherto, according to the New York state housing commissioner. Yet their problems are as serious as those of families.

Living with relatives or renting a room in a private home does not satisfy the need for independence, for being master of his own domain however small, that almost every solitary adult feels. Yet running a home or maintaining an apartment of several rooms is often beyond his means. If he can be taken care of in low-cost group housing plans, either public or private, the gain should be great.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Manhattan newsreel.

There is a cascade of night music, the music of the streets, which means the music of barking dogs, of rattling milk wagons, the hollow echo of a man's footsteps advancing along the Yorkville pavements.

Exterior-long shot of this man—fat, short, swart, plodding toward the camera. Cut to:

Closeup of a cop—he is blowing on his hands, and stamping his feet. His breath leaves a frosty trace in the air. He throws up his head, recognizes the man, says, "Hello, Louie." Cut to:

Closeup of this man—he is haggard. He doesn't have on a coat. He seems oblivious to the cold. There is a dead quality to his voice. He says, "Hello, Joe . . . been looking for you."

The cop says, "Where's your coat? You must have been chased out of somebody's house."

The man says, "Remember that time I took you up to my place, Joe. We had a good time. Pete was there. Haven't seen Pete since Christmas. Joe, maybe you better come now. I want you to come with me up to my apartment."

Louie says, "You better come, Joe. Up to my apartment. My girl's up there. I hit her. I think she's dead."

* * *

NOW cut to exterior scene of an apartment house. It is early morning. Dissolve to:

Long shot of a woman—with a suitcase, and a little boy. She carries an accordion under her arm. The little boy is maybe seven. She is walking directly toward the camera. You can tell that she has come a long way. Dissolve to:

Closeup of this woman—she is 25, yet old before her time. It is bitter cold. She sets the suitcase on the sidewalk. Then she sits the boy on the suitcase. This boy has no coat. His shoes are split up the back. He keeps slapping his little red hands. He keeps looking at his mother. The woman looks anxiously at the apartment house. It is nine stories high, with hundreds of windows, and she is anxious, scanning those windows. She looks from window to window.

Then she begins to play a song on her accordion. She is playing a serenade to a lost dream of some remembered yesterday. She is playing a love song to some face she hopes to see framed in one of those windows. Cut to:

Closeup of a cop who moves up, demanding, yet not unkindly, "What goes on?" He looks at the boy, then back at the woman.

This woman says, "Pay me no mind. I'm looking for him. I'll find him. He's been haunting me and I'll go crazy if I don't find him. I'm not crazy now, but I'll be crazy if I don't find him."

"Who you looking for?" says the cop.

"Him," the woman says. "He's up there somewhere. I've got to find him. I know he's there. I've got to find him or go crazy."

* * *

THE cop places his hand gently on her arm. "All right, I'll help you. I'll help you find him. You come with me now, and I'll find him for you."

The woman looks at the cop. The little boy is beating his tiny red hands. The woman takes the child by the hand, and the cop picks up the suitcase. They move off down the street, the woman, the cop and the child. They step into the street, wait for a light to change. Then the crush of traffic hides them from sight.

Fiction? Not at all. These two episodes happened in New York this week. Their sequels happen every day in the week.

Why Do We Fall Out of Love?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

WHY do we fall out of love? Why are we at first so fond of our friends, then so furious at them?

Why do lovers, who were so mad about each other before the wedding, become so mad at each other six months after?

Why do even parents chill off toward their children—coddle them when they are babies; cuss them out when they begin to express their own personalities?

That's why—there's the answer to all three questions— because they DO begin to express their own personalities.

BECAUSE THEY DARE TO BE THEMSELVES.

Nine times out of ten, when we "fall in love," we don't fall in love with a person at all.

WE FALL IN LOVE WITH A PICTURE.

We fall in love with something which seems to be the living reproduction of our own secret dream.

All our lives we have had a favorite notion of what a friend should be, what a lover should be, what a child should be. A nice, neat, comfortable plan that precisely fitted all our personal prejudices and programs. And all our lives we have hungered to find some one who would fit perfectly into this pet picture.

Then along comes this Wonderful Person or this Adorable Child—

And we "fall in love"!

So everything is lovely for a while. Just as long as the Object of Our Affection continues to act as we think he or she should act—just as long as he or she doesn't disturb the pleasing picture we've created for our own selfish gratification—just that long, everything is lovely.

But sooner or later the inevitable happens. Sooner or later the Object of Our Affections stops being just an object and begins to be an Individual, with all an individual's personal idiosyncarsies and inconsistencies. Which means that we, on our side, must force ourselves to be patient and understanding; must make uncomfortable adjustments and disagreeable sacrifices.

But we don't want to do this! We hadn't planned on doing this. We had never dreamed love would be like this! We had thought that love would go on being warm and thrilly and easy and delightful, with no horrid surprises or upsetting disagreements.

IN SHORT, WE HAD THOUGHT THAT WE COULD GO ON HAVING OUR OWN WAY — WITH THE OTHER FELLOW ACTING AS A YES-YES CHORUS.

AND BECAUSE WE CAN'T—BECAUSE HE WON'T—WE DECIDE THAT WE'VE BEEN TRICKED AND WRONGED: THAT THE OTHER FELLOW IS A DISAGREEABLE, UNGRATEFUL IMPOSTER.

SO STRAIGHTAWAY WE "FALL OUT OF LOVE"!

But were we really in love with the Other Fellow? No, we weren't. We were only in love with ourselves; with our own peewee plans. And at the first contact with Real Love, with its fierce demands, we fly into a tantrum and refuse to play.

Love isn't a gimme game. It is part of the tremendous tearing-down-building-up process of Life. It enlarges and enriches, but it never lets you sit pretty. Its very endurance tests, its sacrifices, dislocations and adjustments are love's greatest gift. For each adjustment means a new adventure; each sacrifice means a new opportunity.

Love isn't a candy heart. It's a challenge. CAN YOU TAKE IT? If you can't, don't blame the other fellow. Tag yourself for the quitter which you are—and get out of the game until you can grow up.

Rest As Remedy For Damaged Heart

—By DR. CLENDENING

A PHYSICIAN who finds a case of valvular disease of the heart is duty-bound to warn the patient that he should not exert himself unduly. This is good doctrine and common sense doctrine because, naturally, the heart with valvular disease has a mechanical defect and, therefore, has not as much reserve power as a normal heart.

The physician, however, is not greatly fooled as to what his patient will do about his advice. It is all right to say to a boy 12 or 14 years old that he mustn't run too much, but if the boy is playing baseball and he hits the ball, he is going to run down to first base. This often unduly alarms parents, but a great deal of this alarm is unnecessary. The doctor is not so much worried when his advice is disregarded in this respect because he knows that the heart muscle is a wonderful organ and is capable of doing a great deal more than might be expected of it.

We have a remarkable example of the reserve power of the heart muscle in a report in the Journal of the American Medical Association. It describes a marathon runner who performed a great many strenuous athletic feats, although he had a double valvular disease of the heart.

Advised Against Racing.

The runner was 32 years old. He was found by the medical examiners of the athletic board to have heart murmurs which indicate valvular disease, and he was warned against participation in the race. He replied that he had competed in similar races on many occasions without any ill effects. He entered the race and ran a marathon of approximately 26 miles in three hours and two minutes, when the weather was intensely warm and at an altitude of approximately 6,000 feet above sea level. His condition after the race was good and he recovered general bodily equilibrium in a shorter time than his competitors.

A case of a different kind reported in the same journal indicates how completely the heart can heal after a severe, acute attack of coronary disease. Physicians usually order a patient with coronary disease to rest at least six weeks in bed. Time hangs heavy, especially after one gets to feeling better, and such a patient wants to be allowed out of bed.

Plenty of Rest.

After he had been in bed in the hospital for seven weeks, he remained quietly at home for another month, and then spent six weeks in Nassau, mostly lying on the beach. After this he began very unusual physical exertion. He went airplaning; he went skiing; he engaged in swimming and dancing. He traveled by airplane to Europe, a trip which included 19 hours of continuous flying at an altitude of from 8,000 to 10,000 feet.

I certainly don't wish to be understood as advocating such a regimen for anybody, but there are some lessons to be learned. One is that the heart has great powers of recuperation and great reserve powers. The other is that the great remedy for the heart is rest. Even with such serious damage as comes from a coronary occlusion, the patient, by giving the heart several months of complete rest, gave the soft spot an opportunity to heal and this patient appears to have as good a heart as anybody as a consequence.

Ohio Anecdotes

Political Boss Gets His Man.

Due to an estrangement between Mark Hanna and J. B. Foraker over the nomination of John Sherman for president in 1888, Hanna championed another Ohioan, William McKinley of Canton, who had loyally supported Sherman's choice by Hanna, national Republican political boss.

Hanna's enthusiasm for McKinley grew when the Ohio senator sponsored the tariff of 1890, the McKinley tariff. When McKinley was defeated for re-election in 1890, Hanna had McKinley nominated for Ohio governor. McKinley was elected despite general Republican defeats in 1890.

During the panic of 1890, the McKinley-for-President boom was launched. Hanna established residence in Thomasville, Ga., where McKinley as his guest met prominent southern Republicans, who assured the Ohioan of their support.

Thus, McKinley's nomination was virtually certain before the national convention met at St. Louis where he was nominated on the first ballot.

Daily Bible Thought

Wherefore putting away lying, speak every man truth with his neighbor: for we are members one of another.—Ephesians 4:25.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Now that all the White House hullabaloo over the possible nomination of Cordell Hull for president has died down, some of the inside facts in the picture can be told.

Real fact is that the president did talk to some of his close friends about the adaptability of Secretary Hull as the Democratic nominee; but these conversations first occurred around Christmas time.

And by the time the much debated newspaper story was published on March 4 quoting the president as having put his blessing on Hull, the president had pretty much changed his mind.

Furthermore, it is important to note that what Roosevelt emphasized back in his Christmas conversations was the ease with which Mr. Hull could be nominated. He did not take up in any detail the problem of electing him.

What Roosevelt pointed out to his friends was that both conservative and liberal factions of the Democratic party approved of Secretary Hull, that he had alienated none of the leaders, and they would all endorse his nomination. It would heal party wounds.

* * *

Shifting Scene.

SINCE that time, however, some of Roosevelt's advisers have been pointing to the fact that it is one thing to nominate Hull and another to elect him, especially with the natural tide running to Republicans this year. Also, they point out, Secretary Hull has some definite political handicaps.

The most obvious of these is his age. He will be 69 this autumn.

Another is the Negro vote, which might be difficult to rally for a Southerner, even though Mr. Hull has never shown any sign of race prejudice. The Republicans are reported to be making progress in weaning away the colored vote, and in a close race, this bloc of votes can swing such important cities as New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

Also there are Mr. Hull's trade treaties, which will not help him in the farm belt.

Finally, the manner in which Republicans have been hurrahing for Cordell Hull has caused a faint suspicion around the White House that the GOP would like to see him nominated for reasons all its own.

All of this adds up to the fact Roosevelt just isn't as enthusiastic about the strategy of Mr. Hull's candidacy as he was two months ago. He still is 100 per cent for Hull personally, and would work for him if nominated, but he has cooled on the idea that Cordell is the ideal candidate.

* * *

Capital Chaff.

TVA commissioner Jim Pope has about decided to try his hand at going back to his old job as Senator from Idaho. Pope, who was one of the farmer's best friends, could win the Democratic nomination easily, but figures he would have a tough race in beating Senator Thomas, who succeeded Borah. . . . Another expected senatorial candidate this time in New Mexico, is Congressman Jack Dempsey, who has about decided to take on Senator Chavez. The latter, with a big group of relatives on the government payroll, is fighting the new Hatch Bill. . . .

Pardon Me, Duke!

BARREN-BEANED Bill Bullitt, U. S. envoy to France, is one of the nation's top ambassadors. Also he is one of the most nimble-witted.

During the Washington visit of the Archduke Otto of Hapsburg and his younger brother Felix, they were entertained by Bullitt, an old friend, at a small dinner party. When the time came for the guests to be seated, it developed that while there were twelve in the party the table was set for only ten — and the two missing place cards were for the royal visitors.

While the two young Archdukes stood on the side grinning at the situation, Bullitt, his brow puckered, kept repeating: "This certainly is funny. I can't figure out how it happened."

Then snapping his fingers, he exclaimed, with a broad smile to the Archdukes: "I remember! I forgot you boys."

* * *

On a Limb.

AFL President William Green's blast at the drastic Smith amendments to the National Labor Relations Act was an unexpected jolt to one member of the investigating committee — Representative Harry Routzohn. It put him right out on a limb.

Prior to coming to congress, the husky Ohioan for nine years was an AFL attorney. From 1929 to 1938 he was top assistant to Joseph C. Carson, general counsel of the carpenters union. As a member of the investigating committee, therefore, Routzohn made a big point of his long AFL connection in his attacks on the labor board.

Author of the sweeping amendments is Chairman Howard Smith (Dem.), hard-bitten Virginia anti-unionite. Routzohn was the lone committee Republican who unequivocally endorsed the amendments.

But now, with Green denouncing the amendments, Routzohn finds himself leagued with an avowed anti-laborite, and advocating AFL-condemned legislation —a very uncomfortable position for a congressman who must lean heavily on labor votes for re-election.

* * *

Stock Exchange Row.

THE Securities and Exchange commission is reveling in an unexpected pleasure.

After battling for years with the New York Stock Exchange, the SEC now is sitting on the sidelines and watching local exchanges in different parts of the U. S. A. wage their own war with the rulers of the "big board."

Cause of the civil war was a rule by the New York Exchange that its members do all their trading through their own Exchange and disregard the local exchanges. This meant a serious loss to the Boston, Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit stock markets. They have irately blasted the "big board" in full-page newspaper ads and bombarded the SEC with appeals for help.

So far the SEC has let the boys battle. It is watching the situation, however, and soon will intervene. At least one private conference has been held between the SEC and heads of the local exchanges.

Deal In Real Estate

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

SEVERAL months ago I stopped into a village real estate office. I had hoped to find the realtor alone, but instead he had an interested customer—a shy ruddy young farmer of near 30. He wore a pair of rubber boots and a new denim suit, and although they spoke in low tones I overheard enough to piece together the conversation.

"You like that farm, John," the realtor suggested. "The soil is as good as lies outdoors, and that six-room house was built four years ago. The barn and outbuildings could be painted and repaired without much cost. Taint high at $6,000, and I feel sure the owner'd shave that price a little. You seemed to like it when we went to see the place—and if you don't have cash enough, your dad could help you out. Why don't you make up your mind and buy it quick?"

The young man blushed. "Tain't the money, nor the price, nor anything about the farm that worries me," he admitted. "But what would I want to buy a house for and live in it all alone?"

"You wouldn't," agreed the salesman, and his smile was full of understanding. "But surely a boy like you can find a good girl that'll have him!"

"Well—I hain't asked 'er yet. I know some that are the right kind, but somehow I can't make up my mind to do it. I'll tell you—if you find me a good girl to go with steady, I'll marry her and buy that farm. Of course I'll have the right to refuse if she don't suit me," he added hesitatingly.

"It's a bargain," declared the realtor. "I've been working with Dan Cupid, on the side, for quite a while." They shook hands—the salesman's white-cuffed hand nearly swallowed up by the wide, thick-fingered grip of the big young farmer.

Last week at a public farm sale I heard this same young man bid on a sow with ten pigs; a team of large bay horses; an antique wild cherry bedstead and springs; a walnut table and a washing machine. The auctioneer winked knowingly at him when any useful household article was up to be sold. Many would-be customers smiled and understood.

"How soon will you be movin', John?" asked a neighbor, grinning. "We'll all be up to see you then."

John was no longer an embarrassed backward youth. He met the other fellow's bartering smile with a good-humored grin.

"Be sure to come," he said.

SAYS ROCKETS WILL CROSS SEA

But Human Beings Are Likely To Have Some Odd Experiences.

PITTSBURGH — (U.P.) — Transoceanic rocket flights "within 10 or 15 years" is the optimistic prediction of G. Edward Pendray, one of the founders of the American Rocket Society.

"The development of the rocket for passenger and transportation service right now is in the very stage that aviation was in 1900—just before the Wrights came in," Pendray said.

"The problem of the airplane was control. And the Wrights solved it with the simple device of warping the wings. Perhaps something just as simple will solve the problem of the rocket."

Still to be ascertained, he said, is whether the human body is able to withstand the terrific pressure generated by a rocket traveling possibly two miles a second, although he pointed out that aviators, in power dives, have withstood pressure three times as great as that which would be created in a skyrocket.

"Of course," he said, "it would be pretty hard for you to raise your hand in the rocket because 'you'd weigh about three times as much."

However, he said, this would last only about four minutes while the rocket was speeding away from the earth into the stratosphere.

"The rest of the trip would be coasting," he said. "Then people would have the horrible sensation of falling and we'd probably have to strap them down to keep them from floating inside the rocket."

MISS BAKER NAMES DATE FOR WEDDING

Will Become Bride of Tolbert E. Smith at First Congregational Church May 4; Mother, Sister Honor Bride-Elect.

MRS. HOY E. BAKER and Mrs. Traver Watson announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter and sister, Miss Mary Kathleen Baker, to Tolbert E. Smith yesterday evening at a dessert-bridge party at the family home, 139 Lind avenue.

Mrs. Watson, the former Miss Dorothy Baker, who now resides in Akron, presided at the buffet table, which was centered with a bouquet of spring flowers, when refreshments were served to 20 of the honoree's friends.

Concealed in the top hats filled with flowers that decorated the small tables, were miniature scrolls directing the guests to look under the tiny poke bonnets, which marked their places. Upon so doing, they discovered pictures of the betrothed couple and the date of their wedding, May 4

Rev. Peter Young will perform the ceremony at 4:30 o'clock that afternoon before the altar of the First Congregational church, when open church will be observed.

The bride-elect, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hoy E. Baker, is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school and an office employe at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. She is a member of Zeta Rho chapter of Delta Theta Tau sorority.

Mr. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Smith of Tulsa, Okla. He was graduated from the University of Oklahoma, where he was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity. He also is affiliated with the Westinghouse company.

Bridge was the diversion at five tables during last night's party, with prizes going to Miss Doris Goodenough, Miss Beatrice Kochenderfer and Mrs. Gene Zediker. The hostesses presented the bride-elect with a gift of linen in honor of the occasion.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Would you rather I tackled her?" she asked. "Say the word and I'll take the gal over—not my knee, although that's where I'd like to have her."

"Don't make me laugh, you ruffian!" I pleaded, but also in tones inaudible beyond us "I'll see to her. She's my responsibility."

"Like the hinges of the hot place, she is!" Lillian retorted.

"But you probably won't be happy till you get her once more in your hair," she went on, "so go to it! But if you need me, just open your door and call. I'll be sitting in my room with the door ajar, so you won't need to yell An ordinary conversational tone will get me. So long and good hunting.

She was gone in the word with an airy wave of the hand, and, summoning my courage, for I had no idea in what mood of despondency—or resentment—Edith had awakened, I knocked lightly on my door.

The movement in the room stopped, and there was a silence of a second or two. Then her voice, quavering despite an effort to steady it, put the inevitable question: "Who is there?"

"Madge." I responded promptly. "May I come in?"

"Oh! surely," she said. "But"—with quick dismay—"is there anybody with you?"

"No. I am alone," I assured her, and she opened the door quickly—she evidently had been standing just behind it — and closed it again as soon as I had entered.

"I wish I didn't have to see anybody except you while I have to stay here," she said childishly, and I saw her fingers clench into her palms as she said it, while her head, stiffly erect, and her tensed body told me that she had obtained little benefit from her nap.

"If it were possible, I'd be glad to arrange it that way," I told her, "and I'll shield you from others as much as possible, but you know it wouldn't be good for you."

"Yes, I know it," she said dolefully, "but sit down, please. There are some things I must tell you, but I won't keep you long."

She sank into the nearest chair, and I drew another opposite her, seating myself in it. Then I spoke—soothingly, I hoped.

"Are you sure it's necessary to tell me anything, Ede, if the telling will be an effort?" I asked. "And won't you believe that I want to be your friend? Why bother about things that are past?"

"It isn't the past of which I want to speak," she said more steadily, and I saw with gratification that she was getting herself in hand, and that I need not fear another emotional outburst. "It's the future. You mentioned it a little while ago, and I was exceedingly rude to you, for which I am most remorseful."

"Please!" I said with uplifted protesting hands, "don't speak of that again. It was a most natural reaction to an impertinence—well-meant, but still inexcusable."

"No matter what you call it," she returned firmly, "it was a most salutary thing for me. It 'gave me to think,' Madge!" she hesitated and looked at me appealingly.

"Yes, Ede," I encouraged

"Tell me," she said, "could it possibly be right for a woman to marry a man who has been her stanchest friend from her childhood, who knows she does not love him as a wife should love a husband, though she has a deep affection for him, and who for all the years has been willing, nay anxious, to take her on those terms?"

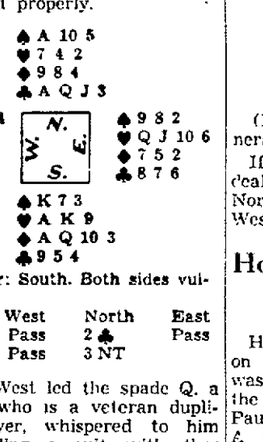
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

EVERY LITTLE BIT HELPS

DUPLICATE tournament play teaches the importance of the little things, as in it a top score may result from the mere taking of an overtrick. The lessons learned there are of value when you turn back to rubber bridge, with a bit more exact game and a fuller understanding of simple factors which can gain or lose a trick for you. Any one of these may on occasion decide a game or slam for your side or the opponents, and at the very least can mean a few more points for you if handled properly.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 NT

When West led the spade Q. a kibitzer, who is a veteran duplicate player, whispered to him that leading a suit with that holding might cost his side a trick. South won with the K and, sure enough, had a finesse established against the J. Finessing both clubs and diamonds twice, he made six tricks in those suits, two in hearts and three in spades, for two overtricks, losing only two tricks in diamonds.

At the end of the kibitzer told West he would have led the heart 8 Had he done so, South could not possibly have taken more than two tricks in spades and so would have made only one overtrick.

"What's the difference?" asked West. "It means just 30 points for an extra trick."

"Maybe so," answered the kibitzer, "but some day such a trick handed to declarer will prove to be the one he needs for game. And furthermore, in the span of a year, if you kept getting one extra trick whenever possible, the total points would add up to quite an amount, perhaps the difference between being a winner or a loser on the year."

Tomorrow's Problem.

If North bids 1-Diamond on this deal, South 2-No Trumps and North 3-No Trumps, how should West plan his defense?

Honor Mrs. O'Hearn With Birthday Party

Honoring Mrs. Frances O'Hearn on her 76th birthday anniversary was the party held last evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs Paul Dillon, 170 Glessner avenue. A son of Mrs. O'Hearn, Carl O'Hearn of Albuquerque, N. M., was also an honored guest, when 40 were in attendance for the occasion.

The group consisted of children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. The evening was spent socially with cards as a diversion. Mrs. O'Hearn was presented with a gift of jewelry from the group and Mr. O'Hearn was also given a remembrance. At a late hour refreshments were served.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, March 29.

The planetary configurations for this day are read as extremely benefic, with strong prospects of fulfilled ambitions and aspirations in every direction. It is a time for reaching for high goals, and toward social, sentimental and humanitarian objectives. In business there is promise of the cooperation of those in power and financial security, whose friendship will be assured and greatly worthwhile. Romance also figures for the eligible. But in all there is an aura of intrigue, collusion or subtlety, operating for good or ill, according to the way it is manipulated.

Those whose birthday it is are at the threshold of a door in which benefic astral forces will be found the open sesame for attaining high goals and fondly-cherished hopes and wishes. In business the friendship and cooperation of the mighty should be cultivated. In social, emotional and philanthropic avenues the signs are propitious, especially for courtship and marriage. But all affairs are under two forms of intrigue, subtlety and conspiracy—one adverse, the other to be employed to enhance and facilitate cautious plans. Be alert to deceptions and peculiar entanglements.

A child born on this day may have much ability for success, with expansive and large ambitions, which it may put over on a pretentious scale through the support of those in power.

Complaining Visitor Gets Told For Criticising Pastor.

FORT COLLINS, Colo.—(AP)—"Some time ago I visited your church and was shocked that you read your prayers," said a letter from a woman to Dr. Harold Scott of the Congressional-Unitarian church. "Also you read so rapidly and in so low a voice I could not understand the words."

Dr. Scott responded: "Dear Madam. In our church prayers are not addressed to you but to Deitey from whom to date I have received no complaints Yours, Harold Scott."

Seeks New Life

One of 14 who escaped from Devil's Island and landed in Puerto Rico in a 30-foot boat, Theobold Six, an Italian, now is at Ellis Island, N. Y., where he is awaiting results of his attempt to get help from the Italian consul and return to his native Italy. Six's companions set out for Mexico in rough sea and have not been heard from for more than a month. Originally he was sentenced to Devil's Island, French penal colony off French Guinea, for slaying a rival who allegedly stole his sweetheart.

Missouri 'Angel' Showers Money On State Groups

(By International News Service)

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.—An "angel" has been showering not "pennies from heaven" but thousands of dollars on Springfield.

His or her identity remains a mystery.

The American Legion Home was the first institution to receive an unexpected windfall when a cashier's check for $1,250 arrived A note instructed that the money be used to pay off the $1,248 mortgage.

Shortly afterwards, a check for $10,000 was sent to the Burge hospital. Then $500 checks were received by the Red Cross, Women's Christian Temperance Union, and the South Street Christian Church.

The Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts were remembered with $50 each.

Officials of the benefited institutions and organizations say that they have no idea as to who the "angel" is.

All the checks were obtained at the same bank in Springfield, but the cashier refuses to divulge the name of the purchaser.

Added mystery was aroused when four residents of nearby Ava, Mo., received anonymous checks for $100. However, they were drawn on a Kansas City bank.

TRAIL FEATHERS

PUEBLO, Colo.—(AP)—The thief who stole 14 hens and two roosters from Mary Terlip's coop feathered his trail instead of his nest and so police caught up with him. Officers said the chickens made such a fuss as the raider carried them away that feathers were scattered from the coop to the house where the thief disposed of his loot. The officers easily followed the trail and eventually captured the guilty man.

Lily Grows Inch Each Day On Diet Of Vitamin Soup

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO—America's agricultural productive capacity may be increased by astronomical figures by a new method of feeding vitamins to plant life.

A lily used to test the vitamin "soup" grew an inch a day for 30 days—without once being exposed to such a commonplace, old-fashioned plant base as earth.

The lily bulb was merely immersed in the soup regularly, and it drank up enough with each dip to support its tremendous growth.

Meanwhile it was kept apart from such customary growth-coaxers as sunlight and warmth. It was kept in a room in which the temperature was maintained at about 72 degrees, just right for human comfort but hardly the place for such a warm-weather plant as the lily.

Dr. W. E. Gericke, who brewed the vitamin soup, said he has had similar successful results with experiments on other plants, including many commonly consumed vegetables. He claimed that the acre-yield for soil grown potatoes is 120 bushels, whereas an acre of soup fed potatoes would yield 1,800 bushels.

Nazi Scientists Leave Camps to Help French Research.

LONDON — (AP) — Britain and France, in their war of "complete co-operation," are helping each other out with scientific problems and are getting German prisoners to help them, too.

A French scientific mission visited England, consulted with British scientists, and worked out a system of pooling inventions and ideas. German scientists are being taken from French internment camps to assist the French on scientific problems.

STRANGE CASE OF ROSSI TIPS FAULTS IN LAW

Sheer Accident Gave American Citizenship to Five Italians.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Guiseppe Rossi, an Italian wine merchant traveling with his wife by leisurely stages across the United States, paused long enough at Chicago for his signora to become the mother of a little boy, Giovanni, and then returned to Italy.

Giovanni grew up regarding his accidental birth in the United States as a curiosity. Never able to return to the new world, he eventually married an Italian girl in Genoa and had five children, two boys and three girls.

Came the European war of 1939, with fear of Italy's involvement, Giovanni decided to send all the children to the United States. As visitors? No. As immigrants? No. As American citizens!

Because that's exactly what they were. All because their grandmother Signora Rossi's day chanced to come while she was traveling in the United States. Their father, Giovanni, had been in the United States only one month as an infant, and spoke no English. Their mother was an Italian who had never been in the United States They themselves had never been here and spoke no English.

But they were American citizens just the same. And the American consulate in Naples had no choice but to give them passports. Such is the nationality law of the United States which administration officials and some congressmen are seeking to change.

The flight to the United States of thousands of Europeans fearful of the war is spurring officials to press amendments to the nationality law. Chairman Dickstein (D.-N. Y.) of the house committee on immigration and naturalization has introduced a new nationality code in collaboration with the departments of state, justice and labor.

Under the new code, the children would be required to live five years in the United States before reaching the age of 21 and to take an oath of allegiance to the United States to be considered American citizens after they come of age. If, on reaching the age of 16, they had not spent any time in the United States, they would automatically cease to be Americans.

The fundamental idea of the new code is to prevent American citizenship from clinging to a person like his skin when he has clearly shown that he does not want it and prefers some other nationality.

It is also designed to relieve the state department of protecting Americans abroad who to all intents and purposes have given up their citizenship.

BEETLE HAS "AUTO LIGHTS"

GRAND FORKS, N. D.—(U.P.)—An "automobile" beetle, with two shining white lamps in its head and a red reflector in the rear which glows at night, is the oddest of some 2,000 African, North and South American beetles collected by Dr. Neal A Weber, university of North Dakota biology instructor

GUNMAN AT 14

He Got $70, But First Inquired 'Is My Mother Here?'

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Detectives are hunting for a boy about 14 years old who really wanted to know if the coast was clear before he held up a downtown filling station.

Robert Foster, the attendant, told police the lad prefaced the robbery, which netted $70, by asking him, "is my mother here?"

CHAPTER I

In the light of the June moon, Elaine Warburton perched precariously on a fire escape step two stories above the ground. If she were discovered and expelled from the college, it would be her own fault, she thought, stepping cautiously down the ladder. She should have gently but firmly refused Betty and Clara when they first proposed this madcap adventure. She should have pointed out to them that with graduation but two days away they were fools to sneak out the window of their room and risk being expelled just to celebrate her coming wedding which, if she fell, would never take place.

Immersed in her thoughts, she was not aware she had stopped her slow descent until an insistent hand tapped at her ankle. She looked down to see Betty motioning impatiently. Heaving a sigh, she pressed close against the vinecovered wall to keep from being too clearly outlined by the moonbeams. In the stillness of the night the click of her shoes on the iron steps sounded like the report of exploding firecrackers and she trembled nervously. The whole idea had been insane; they were sure to be caught and if they were it meant disgrace, a disgrace which would give Eric's mother the chance she had long sought—the opportunity to break up their marriage.

"Just a few steps more, me trembling beauty," Betty called up encouragingly in a hoarse whisper.

Elaine smiled her relief and, growing more confident, she sped down the rungs. Betty already was standing in a shadow against the wall of the dormitory building and Elaine walked swiftly over to her, glancing about for Clara.

"She's looking to see if the coast is clear," Betty told her with a gaminlike grin.

"Why you think up this sort of thing is more than I can figure out," Elaine said cautiously. "If we're caught. . . ."

Betty chuckled. "Forbidden fruit, my child. Besides, rules were made only to be broken. But, if we are caught I'll just tell them you were sleep-walking."

Elaine found herself smiling despite her resolve not to. It was useless to attempt to reason with Betty, or Clara, for that matter. If she had learned nothing else during the four years she had roomed with them at this fashionable school for girls she had learned that.

"All clear," Clara called, materializing from the shadows. "If we keep among the trees we'll be safe."

The girls sped across the campus, Betty in the lead, Clara and Elaine struggling to keep up with her. As they approached the chain gate, Elaine felt her fears subside. They were out of danger now unless some instructor happened to be walking at that end of the grounds, which was highly improbable.

"Tony is to meet us at Union street at ten," Betty told them as they slipped under the gate. "He promised to bring a couple of boys with him, which means you two can enjoy yourself while I tell him about my coming trip to Paris."

"Darn!" Clara glared threateningly at her "Betty Jordon, if you mention Paris once more, just once more, I'll—I'll break your neck!"

"You're just jealous because you aren't going to Paris."

Clara clapped a hand to her forehead and groaned. She turned appealingly to Elaine. "Please," she implored, "please tell this redheaded nincompoop that a trip to Paris isn't the most important thing in the world."

Elaine glanced coldly at them both. "I think you're being silly," she told them with mock severity. "Paris or business or marriage are all right in their places, but right now we have more important things to worry about."

Betty snorted. "For Pete's sakes, Elaine, stop worrying. We've never been caught yet."

"And we won't be caught now," Clara said with determination.

"That's what they all say." Elaine reminded her, but their words did make her feel more confident.

* * *

Arm in arm the three girls walked down the treelined street, Betty and Clara still bickering, Elaine listening but choosing no sides. Experience had taught her that to do so was akin to declaring war, and tonight, tonight she wanted only to enjoy herself. This would be the last evening she would spend with them for quite some time. Within a week Betty would be en route to Paris, Clara would be at work in her father's chain of department stores, and she—she would be aboard a steamer bound for Hawaii and a tropical honeymoon.

It was strange, she mused, how fond they had become of one another. It seemed only yesterday that they had been assigned to room together. Complete strangers they had been then, yet they liked each other instantly, this liking evolving into a strong friendship as they found more and more things in common.

That also was strange, Elaine thought, when one considered that Clara and Betty came from rich, influential families while she, ever since her parents died, had lived with her Aunt Ella in California, partly paying her way at school by helping out as a waitress in her restaurant. She recalled with a smile that she had been afraid to come to this fashionable girls' school. She had read about the snobbery of the rich, how keenly aware they were of class difference and how determined they were to maintain their superiority.

But Aunt Ella had brushed her protests aside, exclaiming that rich or poor, people were still people, and since she might meet some one who would be of help if she decided to do something with her voice, she had permitted her aunt to send her off to the school where she soon learned that poverty was no disgrace and that people liked each other for what they were, not for what they had.

"Look!" Betty's voice recalled Elaine to the present. "There comes Tony."

Clara looked at the car as it eased to a halt near the curb, and then down at her watch. "Well, miracles do happen. He's right on time."

"My boy friend," Betty told her, proudly.

"If you feel that way about him why don't you marry him?" Clara queried, still carrying a chip on her shoulder.

Betty refused to be drawn into an argument. "Tony isn't Paris, you know, and besides — why, where are Ronald and Bill?"

"They couldn't come," Tony Barclay informed them, opening the car door as they approached. "They had other dates."

* * *

Elaine stepped into the rear of the car, glad that the others hadn't been able to come. It wasn't because she didn't like them, only that she wanted as few about as possible. After all, it was really supposed to be her party and that meant only her close friends, and while Tony was not a close friend he was Betty's boy-friend, a fact which admitted him to the inner circle. But Betty was not so pleased.

"Of all the nerve!" she stormed, seated beside Tony. "Do you think I let them step all over me at the last dance just to be turned down like this?"

Tony laughed deeply. "Don't work yourself up so, honey. After all, you couldn't expect them to sit around just waiting for you to phone."

"Why not?" I'm the only really beautiful girl they know. And don't call me honey!"

Her pretended anger was fooling no one and Elaine smiled because she was aware that Betty knew it wasn't. Faked anger was just a very small part of her complicated technique. She had confided this to them one night, declaring, "Men respect your wishes if you keep them stepping. And the only way to keep them stepping is to blow up once in a while."

"Well, what's it to be?" Tony queried gaily, ignoring the fuming girl. "Johnnie's, the Tavern or the Blue Grass Inn?"

"The Blue Grass Inn." Clara made the decision. "And we might as well warn you, this is going to be expensive."

"What's the big celebration?"

Clara was amazed. "Do you mean that Betty didn't tell you?"

He shook his head. "The light of my life, in her charmingly nutty way, just told me to meet you at ten."

Elaine laughed. "I'm going to be married Friday," she told him. "This is to be a celebration."

"Married?" Tony whistled his surprise. "So that's why I was dragged into this affair, you girls want champagne."

"Buckets of it," Betty said, greedily.

He shook his dark head dolefully. "And as usual, it's the man who pays. Ah, well, marriage is a woman's supreme triumph and a man's funeral. It's—say! did I make that up or did some one write it?"

"You made it up," Betty told him, acidly.

And before Tony could think of a crushing retort they were at the Blue Grass Inn.

Elaine glanced curiously about as Tony stopped a few feet from the door. Never having joined Clara and Betty on one of their "Nights—out" this marked her first visit to the place. Following them out of the car she was aware of a disappointed, letdown feeling, for the inn, garishly illuminated, with a red neon sign flickering above an uninviting door, impressed her as being cheap, tawdry; just an ordinary roadhouse, hardly the type of place in which to hold a party of any sort.

She looked askance at the girls but they apparently did not share her opinion of the place for, laughing gaily, they marched up the steps and into the restaurant. And once inside Elaine was glad she had not given expression to her thoughts, for the inn, despite its exterior was indeed a beautiful restaurant.

A spacious, high-ceilinged room with many inviting alcoves, it was tastefully decorated in soft pastel shades. Seated on a circular dais was a string trio and the waltz they were playing imparted a homey touch.

* * *

Tony Barclay was in his element now. Handsome, debonair, beaming impartially upon them all, he led them to a table in a dimly lighted corner.

"Now far be it from me to urge you to drink," he said when they had taken their seats. "But if you want to, well, what'll you have?"

"Scotch and soda," Betty ordered with one of her swift changes of mind.

"The same for me," Clara added, "and a glass of sherry for Elaine."

A quizzical expression came into Tony's eyes. "Why don't you let her order? She seems old enough."

"Elaine is a sissy," Betty declared, blue eyes twinkling. "She drinks only wine, and just two glasses of that."

Clara rose to Elaine's defense. "Well, she doesn't pass out after two drinks. And Betty Jordon, if you get drunk I swear I'll leave you lying on the floor!"

The string trio began to play another waltz and as the melody floated across the room Tony leaned forward over the table. "While they're settling that," he asked Elaine, how about a dance?"

She rose from her chair and walked away from the table, leaving Betty and Clara to squabble happily with each other.

"I suppose Betty does drink too much," Tony said as they moved across the floor. "It's really odd. You would think she had enough sense to leave it alone."

Elaine glanced over his shoulder back to the table and a frown crossed her face as she saw Betty pick up her glass as soon as the waiter placed it on the table and drink eagerly. "Oh, we mustn't let her drink too much," she said anxiously. "We're out without permission and if we're caught there's no telling what will happen."

KIDDING SELVES

U. S. Says We Can Grow Best Quality of Easter Lilies.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— American florists annually import $3,000,000 worth of eastern lily bulbs under a mistaken belief, the agriculture department said today, that the bulbs cannot be successfully produced in this country.

To show the error of this belief, the department is conducting demonstrations at its Beltsville, Md., experimental farm which show, officials said, that bulbs of better quality than the imported ones can be grown in southern and Pacific coast states. Practically all the imported bulbs come from Japan.

By crossing varieties produced in this country with those grown in Bermuda and Japan, the Beltsville farm has developed about 100 new types of lilies.

LEARNS OF LAW

Court Won't Accept His Plea of Guilty Without Lawyer.

HELENA, Mont.—(AP)—A defendant charged with selling liquor to Indians learned something about American law when he appeared before Judge James H. Baldwin in Federal District Court and pleaded guilty.

The judge, after talking to him, declined to accept the plea. Instead he postponed the trial and appointed an attorney to defend the man. Under the United States Constitution, said the judge, the defendant was entitled to legal counsel. There was a question whether his car, alleged to contain whisky, was searched legally.

Orders Return of $5,557 In Ohio Senate Milage Fees

OHIO SUPREME COURT RULES ON 'GRAB' SUIT

Holds Former Senators Must Return Money for Mileage Never Traveled.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Twenty-nine members of the 1936 senate—three of them now dead—must return to the state treasury $5,557 they collected for mileage never traveled, and other members of the 91st general assembly will never receive the $21,507 they claimed in similar fees.

The Ohio supreme court, holding that no constitutional issue was involved, yesterday dismissed the legislators' appeal from a Franklin county common pleas court decision that mileage allowances could not be made for a period between July 22 and Dec. 8, 1936, when the legislature was in recess.

The assemblymen attempted to collect the fees by recessing and reconvening 40 times in one day so that the journal would show weekly meetings throughout the 140-day recess. J. Freer Bittinger of Ashland, speaker of the house in 1936, contended that the journal could not be questioned.

Arnett Harbage of West Jefferson sued to enjoin the state auditor from making the payments. The 29 senators already had collected their fees before the court ruled.

The supreme court instructed lower court to fix attorney fees for Gilbert H. Bettman of Cincinnati and Mrs. Agnes B. Dickinson of Columbus, who represented Harbage.

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson said he would prepare findings for amounts ranging from $69.77 to $302.40 and present them to the senators for collection.

In another case, the supreme court held that finance companies were not covered by the law providing punishment for vendors taking over automobiles or other chattels for non-payment of installments without refunding to the purchaser the amount in excess of the claim.

The court reversed a Mahoning county court's conviction of the Associates Investment company which financed the purchase of an automobile from the Anderson-Jeffries Motor company of Youngstown.

The supreme court agreed to hear on its merits the case in which Stark county commissioners sued to take control of the Molly Stark tuberculosis sanitarium of Canton from the trustees of the institution.

Under the court's ruling Philp Wolfe of Mansfield, former state senator from the 27th-29th district, was ordered to pay $119.52 for mileage fees he collected.

Cleveland Finance Problem Eased as Voters Pass Levy

CLEVELAND —(AP)— City council went to work today on a 1940 appropriation ordinance following a special election which gave the group permanent authorization to levy a supplementary tax for municipal operations outside the state constitutional 10-mile limit.

Complete returns on the charter amendment showed it winning by only 678 votes. With a majority required for passage, the totals were 46,383 for and 45,705 against.

Snowy weather held down the vote, with less than a fourth of the city's approximately 375,000 eligibles going to the polls yesterday.

Relief and WPA expenses are not provided for in the permanent financing and it is expected special levies will be needed to handle the load.

The vote places Cleveland's 1940 municipal tax rate at 31.95 mills. The gross budget calls for more than $18,900,000 for operating expenses and the administration expects to raise $9,928,000 through the new measure.

The amendment permits council to levy up to 8.35 mills annually for operating expenses, either within or above the 10-mill limit. It also provides special additional levies may be approved by a simple majority at any regular election, rather than the present 65 per cent.

GETS FOOD FINE

Bucyrus Man Accused Of Injecting Water Into Chicken.

Convicted in municipal court on a charge of selling adulterated food, James R. Clayton, Bucyrus, was fined $25 and costs yesterday by Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch.

Charges were filed by W. G. Jackson, inspector for the state department of agriculture, who accused Clayton of injecting water into a chicken with a hypodermic needle to increase its weight.

Carter Court Martial Fight Stirs Storm

Up and Down THE STREET

Somewhere in the Mansfield area there's a motorist who has already lost one of his new auto license plates although the law has permitted him to use them only a few days. Charles Miller, the man who usually sees the first signs of spring out in Steam Corners, found the 1940 tag in the road near his home. The tag has "VZ 536" on it. The owner can get it by calling Lexington 6963, Miller said.

Strayer, officer in charge, said the flag will be raised every morning as soon as the office is opened.

A Marion lad in the Junior Association of Commerce boxing tournament made an unusual request before he was willing to fight in the meet. Officials received a letter from the youth asking if they would pay expenses if he didn't come with his stable and drove here himself so his best girl could come along and see him in action. Yes, the tourney officials put their O. K. on his expense account.

ASKS JURY TRIAL

Driver Accused of Intoxication Wants Panel to Hear Case.

A jury will be called in municipal court to determine whether James T. Williams, 32, of 170 East Third street, was intoxicated March 3 when his machine collided with another car on route 13, north of Mansfield, injuring Schuyler M. Mercer, R. D. 1, Mansfield.

The case was postponed three times and request for the jury trial was made this morning by Atty. James V. Will, counsel for Williams. Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch has not set date for the trial.

Charges of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol were filed against Williams by State Highway Patrolman John Gosling who investigated the crash.

Mercer suffered a fractured back in the accident and is confined in General hospital.

1,600 U. S. PLANES SENT TO ALLIES, FEDERAL REPORT SHOWS

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—American aircraft plants, an official report disclosed today, have delivered about 1,600 warplanes to French and British fighting forces in the last 14 months and are rushing production on orders for 2,700 more.

These initial European war contracts generally were regarded as the forerunners of a large scale allied program for the purchase of an additional 8,000 ships at an estimated cost of $1,000,000,000.

Aviation spokesmen, after conferring with army and navy officials here yesterday, voiced confidence that aircraft plants could handle the expected heavy increase in foreign buying "in a manner affording complete protection to our national interest."

They predicted also that the big buying program would materialize quickly in view of the department's decision to permit the export of latest model American military craft. Heretofore, the allies have been slow to place additional orders, contending that anything but the latest planes would be obsolescent by the time mass deliveries were made.

Secretary of War Woodring explained the new export policy to the house military committee yesterday, and the arrangement won its general approval.

There remained a possibility, however, that a similar senate committee might decide to examine the effects of foreign plane orders on national defense requirements. A vote on an investigation proposal was fixed for today.

The data on aircraft war purchases to date, as compiled by war, state and treasury department sources, showed a $300,000,000 back-log on Franco-British orders for planes, engines and propellers as of Feb. 29.

Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, told the house committee that by the end of this year the industry's capacity would be between 30,000 and 40,000 complete aircraft as contrasted with the 3,643 output of 1938.

WINDS UP CASE

Union Withdrawal From Ideal Election Given NLRB Okay.

The case of the National Labor Relations board and the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America against the Ideal Electric & Manufacturing company was formally closed today by the NLRB.

The action was taken as the board put its okay on an application of the union for a withdrawal from the election ordered by the board Feb. 27. The election was called off by the NLRB a few days before it was to have been held March 22.

Edwin Beal, international representative of the union, charged the company had begun a "campaign of intimidation and slander against the union" after the election was ordered and said his organization would not enter into an election for a bargaining agency unless "employes are guaranteed a free choice."

The company was charged with unfair practices last year but after a trial by an NLRB examiner here, the charges were dismissed.

'DREYFUSS' SAYS POLITICS KEPT HIM IN PRISON

Former Army Officer Claims Conviction Was Upheld to Get Votes for McKinley.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Capt. Oberlin M. Carter, 84-year-old former army officer whose friends call him the "American Dreyfuss," rebuts today the war department's contention that in 1898 court martial found him guilty "beyond a reasonable doubt" of conspiracy to defraud the government.

Carter, now a resident of Chicago, seeks to have the court martial expunged from his record. He sought such action ever since he was released from a five-year term at Leavenworth. A senate military affairs subcommittee is considering a bill by Sen. Chan Gurney (R., S.D.) to clear Carter of the charges.

At a stormy session of the subcommittee last night, Carter charged that President McKinley upheld 42 years ago only to keep the state of Ohio in the Republican ranks. He said that McKinley favored his acquittal but had concurred in the court martial only after Mark Hanna, one-time influential Republican boss, told the president he would "have to drop Carter or lose the state of Ohio."

Carter was found guilty by a military court ata Savannh, Ga., of conspiracy to defraud the government by permitting contrac- military court martial at Savann the army. A war department official told the subcommittee that one contractor had admitted that Carter made a profit of $1,500,000 on Savannah harbor works, and that deposits in a New York bank show that contractors paid various sums to Carter, including one payment of $50,000 and securities totaling about $500,000.

The war department's testimony was given by Col. Lawrence H. Hedrick, of the army's judge advocate general's office.

Grange and Farm Bureau officials, county and township AAA committeemen and vocational agriculture teachers in the county have been invited to attend the session.

Ganyard said the work of CCC camps in connection with soil conservation will also be outlined. The federal government recently approved a camp for Richland county to assist farmers in soil-conserving practices.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Whenever I begin to brood over the mechanical, prosaic, workaday turn this picture business has taken in recent years, I try to think quickly of men like Otto Brower, Ernest Schoedsack and Jim Havens.

Movies have been mechanized. Adventure and romance are charted in celluloid footage, in sound frequencies, in units of electric power. You trip over cables on sound stages. The camera runs itself electrically. Beauty and glamour are things of plaster and paint and false hair and publicity. Nature has been brought indoors and is just a process shot. Hollywood is a robot, wired for sound, punching a time-clock.

But the Browers, the Schoedsacks, the Havenses still go forth and adventure goes with them, beyond the reach of automatic "efficiency schemes" and the practical "certainties" of studios.

* * *

Otto Brower is a director. Mild, gray-eyed, soft-spoken, you wouldn't pick him to lead an expedition into Africa. The studio did. Brower came back with enough exotic film to make "Stanley and Livingstone" and have some left over. He's off again soon, because Zanuck has "Tanganyka Exploit" coming up. In Africa, a studio man has no trouble with a supervisor. Neither has he a supervisor to whom to take his troubles. He is on his own through flood, disease, heat, difficulties.

* * *

Schoedsack stayed at home to make "Dr. Cyclops." With Merian Cooper he used to roam the far places of the earth, and they brought back "Chang" and "Grass" and many another film beauty of the past. Africa, India, Indo-China, Persia are but a few of the places their cameras have seen.

W. S. Van Dyke used to be a camera rover, too. The South Seas, Africa, the Arctic—wherever a "big location" called, there was Van Dyke. He got credit for directing those far-flung epics of his. Van Dyke had his fill of travel, has continued on the home lot as a star director.

* * *

But Jim Havens goes right on, the town's maritime specialist. Jim builds sailing ships and sails them. "Little Old New York" saw some of his work, but for "Captains Courageous" Jim went storm-hunting. For three months he sailed the seas in search of a storm to his liking. He found it around Cape Horn, and he rode it out for some of the most thrilling sea action ever photographed.

* * *

There is scarcely a picture released today which does not benefit by the roving cameraman's work.
